inspired by the philosophy of Wittgenstein and his idea that the purpose of real philosophical thinking is not to discover something new but to show in a strikingly different light what is already there this book provides philosophical readings of a number of arthouse and Hollywood films each chapter contains a discussion of two films one explored in greater detail and the other analyzed as a minor key which reveals the possibility for the book's ideas to be applied across different films registers and genres the readings are not only interpretive but they offer a way of thinking and feeling about with and through films which is genuinely transformative Rupert Read's main contention is that certain films can bring about a change in how we see the world he advocates an ecological approach to film philosophy analysis arguing that film can re shape the viewer's relationship to the environment and other living beings the transformative wake up call of these films is enlightenment in its true sense the result is a book that ambitiously aims to change though film how we think of ourselves and our place in the world at a time when such change is more needed than ever before

The great challenge in writing a feature length screenplay is sustaining audience involvement from page one through 120. Screenwriting the sequence approach expounds on an often overlooked tool that can be key in solving this problem. A screenplay can be understood as being built of sequences of about fifteen pages each, and by focusing on solving the dramatic aspects of each of these sequences in detail, a writer can more easily conquer the challenges posed by the script as a whole. The sequence approach has its foundation in early Hollywood cinema. Until the 1950s, most screenplays were formatted with sequences explicitly identified and has been rediscovered and used effectively at such film schools as the University of Southern California, Columbia University, and Chapman University. This book exposes a wide audience to the approach for the first time, introducing the concept, then providing a sequence analysis of eleven significant feature films made between 1940 and 2000: The Shop Around the Corner, Double Indemnity, Nights of Cabiria, North by Northwest, Lawrence of Arabia, The Graduate, One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest, Toy Story, Air Force One, Being John Malkovich, The Fellowship of the Ring.
