futabatei shimei 1864 1909 is widely regarded as the founder of the modern japanese novel

his novel Floating Clouds (1887–1889) was written in a colloquial narrative style that was unprecedented in Japanese literature as was its negative hero Futabatei. He was also a pioneer translator of Russian literature, translating works by Turgenev, Gogol, Tolstoy, Gorky, and others. His translations had an enormous impact, perhaps even greater than his novels, on the development of Japanese literature. In this groundbreaking work, Hiroko Cockerill analyses the development of Futabatei's translation style and the influence of his work as a translator on his own writing. She takes us on a journey through Russian and Japanese literature, throwing light on the development of Japanese literary language, particularly in its use of verb forms to convey notions of tense and aspect that were embedded in European languages. Cockerill finds that Futabatei developed not one but two distinctive styles based on the influences of Turgenev and Gogol, while the influence of his translations from Turgenev was immediate and far-reaching. His more Gogolian translations are fascinating in their own right, and contemporary translators would do well to revisit them.

The first major study on the works of the Mexican novelist Angeles Mastretta, demonstrating the rich complexity and range of the author's fiction and essays. The Mexican novelist Angeles Mastretta (b. 1949) has only recently received serious critical attention, largely because her work has been seen as popular and therefore inappropriate for academic study. This first major work to be published on Mastretta seeks to demonstrate the rich complexity and range of the author's fiction and essays in the tradition of post-boom Latin American women's writing. Mastretta's texts are motivated by a desire to speak primarily of the silenced experiences and voices of women. Two of her novels, Referential and Testimonial in style, can be placed within the Mexican revolutionary novel tradition and explore the revolutionary period and its consequences in the light of female experiences and perspectives. The hitherto unexplored themes of female sexuality and bodily erotics in Mastretta's texts are also considered in this volume. Her feminist works avoid facile simplifications; heterogeneous and dialogical, they interweave the historical and the fictional, the everyday and the fantastic. The originality of Mastretta's writing lies in its elusive, postmodern ambiguities. Shimmering surfaces are often interrupted by unexpected depths, and proliferating meanings cannot be fully circumscribed by critical analysis. Jane Elizabeth Lavery, Lectures in Latin American Studies at the University of Kent.
