world literature was long defined in north america as an established canon of european masterpieces but an emerging global perspective has challenged both this european focus and the very category of the masterpiece the first book to look broadly at the contemporary scope and purposes of world literature what is world literature probes the uses and abuses of world literature in a rapidly changing world in case studies ranging from the sumerians to the aztecs and from medieval mysticism to postmodern metafiction david damrosch looks at the ways works change as they move from national to global contexts presenting world literature not as a canon of texts but as a mode of circulation and of reading damrosch argues that world literature is work that gains in translation when it is effectively presented a work of world literature moves into an elliptical space created between the source and receiving cultures shaped by both but circumscribed by neither alone established classics and new discoveries alike participate in this mode of circulation but they can be seriously mishandled in the process from the rediscovered epic of gilgamesh in the nineteenth century to rigoberta menchú's writing today foreign works have often been distorted by the immediate needs of their own editors and translators eloquently written argued largely by example and replete with insightful close readings this book is both an essay in definition and a series of cautionary tales in 90 masterpieces of world literature vol i readers are invited to explore a rich tapestry woven from some of the most influential and diverse voices in literature this anthology captures a vast spectrum of styles from the surreal landscapes of lewis carroll to the incisive realism of charles dickens and the natural mysticism of walt whitman within these pages short stories essays and excerpts unfold themes of existential quest social justice romantic idealism and philosophical intrigue each piece stands as a testament to the eras and milieus that birthed them showcasing the expanse of human creativity and thought that transcends time the anthology benefits from the collective power of its contributors drawing upon a wide array of cultural and historical contexts the voices of plato and marcus aurelius converge with the modern insights of sigmund freud and d h lawrence while global narratives from soseki natsume to miguel de cervantes resonate through time this collection is a reflection of the transformative movements in literature such as romanticism realism and modernism bridging western and eastern storytelling traditions together these authors offer insights into the universal human experience enriched by their unique backgrounds and perspectives this volume
