a classic from an author regarded as the father of punjabi literature all that sustains kuldeep singh through his dark days in jail where he is serving a term for participating in anti british agitations are thoughts of his beautiful wife and the dream of going home but he returns to find that his wife has died leaving behind their infant child as his world collapses around him he negotiates the divergent pulls exerted by people around him a holy man who advocates renunciation his childhood friend saroj who has always loved him and the tempestuous prakash who hides an unsavoury past sahitya akademi award winning author nanak singh draws on personal experiences to create this compelling portrait of punjab in the 1920s originally published in punjabi in 1940 adh kidhiya phool is an intense meditation on the choices people make and the consequences these may have the author's engagement with social issues like superstition and blind faith religious bigotry casteism and the emancipation of women seems as fresh and relevant today as it did when he wrote this book fluently translated by navdeep suri a life incomplete introduces a stalwart of punjabi literature to a new readership a lyrical luminous offering from the pioneer of punjabi novel writing and sahitya akademi awardee nanak singh when a ticket officer apprehends a ticketless traveller at the amritsar railway station he is shocked to discover that the penniless young man in tattered clothes is none other than the widely acclaimed writer gupteshwar but even more disconcerting than the state of the author is the story of his new novel one that lays bare the moral rot besieging twentieth century punjab as the author reads from his unfinished manuscript it becomes clear that the tale of the two women he is weaving is far from fictional with its nested narratives rich prose and fascinating depiction of quotidian life nanak singh's pivotal novel paints an unsparing portrait of a society infected with corruption casteism and appalling inequality where those who position themselves as guardians of morality are the ones most willing to abuse their power this is the first of three volume anthology of writings in twenty two indian languages including english that intends to present the wonderful diversities of themes and genres of indian literature this volume comprises representative specimens of poems from different languages in english translation along with perceptive surveys of each literature during the period between 1850 and 1975 this collection of essays is meant to be a survey of the novel in twelve major indian languages during the period 1950 to 1980 while seeking to bring into focus the major trends and tendencies that characterise the growth of the novel in these languages the book attempts to explore the traditions being established in indian novel today and the new directions the novel is likely to take in our languages gobinda prasad sarma convincingly shows how the assamese novel reflects the assamese society and how experimentation with new techniques has widened the horizons of assamese novel and k sivathamby through a brilliant analysis of the interconnection between the societal factors and development of the novel portrays the rise of the tamil novel to new heights during the period while i k sharma shows how hindi novel has passed imperceptibly from the wonderland of fancy to the hinterland of society and the borderland of psyche shyamala a narayan predicts a bright future for indian english novel on the basis of her assessment of such writers as mulk raj anand r k narayan raja rao manohar malgonkar anita desai and arun joshi jatindra kumar nayak brings out the tension in post independent oriya novel between the idealism of the freedom struggle and the values of a commercial society k m tharakan describes the rich complexity hints at the possibility of a blend of post modernist and leftist trends and ila pathak shows how in gujrati the traditional novel and the experimental novel are growing side by side to lila ray who traces the diverse trends in bengali novel the most remarkable change is in the political novel but to prabhakar rao who describes the wide range of exploration in telugu novel the telugu novelist appears unable to rise above the mediocre narinder singh sees punjabi novel at the take off stage but gives a word of caution against the increasing use of colloquial dialect by the novelists seshagiri rao traces the traditions established in kannada novel by the writers of the navodaya period navya period and the progressive movement finally balachandra nemade in his inimitable style anatomizes the positive and negative trends in the growth of marathi novel and gives a passionate call to revolutionise criticism and cure marathi of its present poverty of taste this book is a gateway to the edifice of contemporary indian novel
