in the urgency to respond to the challenges posed by diversity in contemporary societies the discussion of normative foundations is often overlooked this book takes that important first step and offers new ways of thinking about diversity its contribution to an ongoing dialogue in this field lies in the construction of a normative framework which endeavours to better understand the challenges of justice in diverse societies by applying this normative framework to specific and broader examples of injustices in the spheres of religion culture race ethnicity gender and nationality the book demonstrates how constitutional pluralist discourses can contribute both to new and legal responses to diversity the book will be of interest to legal professionals policy makers law students and scholars concerned with exploring diversity in the 21st century this volume examines the property transformations in post communist central eastern europe cee and focuses on the role of restitution and privatisation in such transformations it argues that the theorisation of restitution in post communist cee is incomplete in the transitional justice scholarship and in the literature on correction of historical wrongs the book also argues that for a more complete theorisation of post communist restitution the transformations of property in post communist societies ought to be studied in a more holistic way the main legal vehicles used for such transformations privatisation and restitution should not be studied separately and in abstract but in their reciprocal relationship and in connection to the dimension of justice which each could achieve finally the book integrates privatisation in a theory of post communist transformation of property
