this book examines the role of laboratory work and technology in k 12 science education involving perspectives from policymakers researchers and teachers it explores design research professional practice and evaluation highlighting the benefits of inquiry based experiences integrated with classroom curricula

this dissertation involved an 8 week investigation in a high school classroom to explore how students prior experiences with dynamic graphs of linear equations supported their efforts to understand systems of linear equations the researcher and the classroom teacher developed two technology intensive instructional sequences that were taught by the classroom teacher the daily collaborative meetings of the researcher and the teacher informed revisions to the instructional sequence this study used the situated perspective to analyze the collective mathematical development of the class and to compare the ways in which individuals participated in the collective development according to theorists of the situated perspective knowing mathematics is considered an aspect of participation in social practices in order to describe the collective development the construct of a practice was used to examine the structure responsibilities and common activities of the mathematics classroom i describe four target students individual growth in terms of a trajectory of participation in the practices of mathematical thinking our conjectures about the means of supporting student learning in the form of curriculum and software were empirically tested by providing insight into the process by which a group of students collectively develop understandings of important mathematical ideas analyses such as this can help teachers and instructional designers anticipate possible ways other groups of students will develop meaning this work also informs classroom teachers in that situated research such as this embraces the complexity of the classroom it accounts for what students contribute and what teachers can do to support student learning this analysis is not prescriptive in the sense of theory informing educational practice instead in this theoretical framework a reflexive relationship exists between theory and practice teachers can see how ideas emerged and student conceptions developed within a particular context the papers included in these proceedings have been peer reviewed the 2005 physics education research conference covered a broad spectrum of current research directions including student learning of specific topics student attitudes and the effectiveness of various teaching methods the emphasis was on undergraduate instruction the theme of this conference was connecting physics education research teacher education at all levels k 20 science supervisors have a complex and difficult job they must have the abilities training and experience of scientist educator administrator and politician a science supervisor must be a master teacher both in practice and in the knowledge of teaching methods research on learning and insight into the development of children another important role of the science supervisor is the promotion and support of science teaching with teachers administrators and the community this sourcebook consists of a collection of 24 articles by various authors concerning six major areas of science supervision these areas include 1 trends for the future 2 the viability of science programs and supervision 3 staff development 4 safety in laboratories and classroom facilities 5 the evaluation of teachers and programs and 6 research about science supervision cw
