remixed and reimagined innovations in religion spirituality and inter faith in higher education is a new edited book that invites readers to rethink and re examine the traditional paradigms in which religion spirituality and interfaith rsi have been studied within higher education and student affairs settings this volume introduces new theoretical frameworks that enrich and enliven the study of rsi making it more dynamic inclusive and most importantly innovative it is framed by a commitment to social justice and intersectionality while centering the narratives of the religiously marginalized the text is divided into two units the first unit explores new and emergent frameworks for analyzing and interpreting rsi in higher education and student affairs the second unit puts various theoretical frameworks into practice while highlighting the often marginalized voices of the religiously minoritized the book concludes with a call for researchers to begin exploring the new proposed horizons within the study of rsi in higher education and student affairs this text is perfect for graduate level seminars in higher education and student affairs programs it is also an invaluable resource for researchers and scholars perfect for courses such as religion in popular culture religion and spirituality in higher education introduction to the study of religion introduction to interfaith multifaith studies interfaith dialogue on campus introduction to queer studies contemporary issues in lgbtq studies introduction to diversity masters of education graduate level politics of difference diversity and identity diverse issues in higher education student affairs in contrast to other studies on identity this book takes its point of departure in the complexities that characterize and shape both individuals and societies past and present its chapters challenge demarcated fields of study and conceptions of identity as gender identity as functional disability identity as race and identity as or based upon language groupings the contributions take a social practices perspective in their exploration of the performance living and doing of identity positions across time and space many of the contributions take an intersectional stance and the majority report upon empirically driven studies that examine the ways in which micro level analyses of naturally occurring human communication contribute to our understanding of identification processes specifically they study the ways in which more recent dialogical and social theoretical analytical frameworks allow for attending to the complexity and dynamics of identity processes the ways in which institutional settings media settings community of practices and affinity spaces provide affordances and obstacles for different types of identity positions and the ways in which shifts in identity positions can be traced across time and space bringing together the experience perspective and expertise of paul farmer jim yong kim and arthur kleinman reimagining global health provides an original compelling introduction to the field of global health drawn from a harvard course developed by their student matthew basilico this work provides an accessible and engaging framework for the study of global health insisting on an approach that is historically deep and geographically broad the authors underline the importance of a transdisciplinary approach and offer a highly readable distillation of several historical and ethnographic perspectives of contemporary global health problems the case studies presented throughout reimagining global health bring together ethnographic theoretical and historical perspectives into a wholly new and exciting investigation of global health the interdisciplinary approach outlined in this text should prove useful not only in schools of public health nursing and medicine but also in undergraduate and graduate classes in anthropology sociology ecologies of affect offers a synthetic introduction to the felt dynamics of cities and the character of places the contributors capture the significance of affects including desire nostalgia memory and hope in forming the identity and tone of places the critical intervention this collection of essays makes is an active consistent engagement with the virtualities that produce and refract our idealized attachments to place contributors show how place images and attempts to build communities are rather than abstractions fundamentally tied to and revolve around such intangibles we understand nostalgia desire and hope as virtual that is even though they are not material they are nevertheless real and must be accounted for in this book the authors take up affect emotion and emplacement and consider them in relation to one another and how they work to produce and are produced by certain temporal and spatial dimensions the aim of the book is to inspire readers to consider space and place beyond their material properties and attend to the imaginary places and ideals that underpin and produce material places and social spaces this collection will be useful to practitioners and students seeking to understand the power of affect and the importance of virtualities within contemporary societies where intangible goods have taken on an increasing value stealth techniques explores the fascinating world of covert operations examining both the real world methodologies used by spies and military personnel throughout history and their captivating portrayal in japanese manga delving into the evolution of camouflage concealment and infiltration the book reveals how these tactics have been crucial in military history and espionage interestingly stealth techniques aren t just about physical concealment they also involve manipulating perception and understanding the psychology of observation skills vital in both warfare and espionage the book uniquely bridges the gap between factual military history and fictional storytelling analyzing how manga artists utilize visual cues and narrative structures to depict stealth operations it progresses from the fundamental concepts of stealth drawn from historical military manuals and intelligence agency training programs to the representation of these concepts in manga and finally synthesizes these two perspectives to explore the cultural impact of stealth by examining specific manga titles and artistic techniques stealth techniques demonstrates how visual storytelling amplifies the allure and mystique of espionage deception and covert action in works of silver and wool the navajos have established a unique brand of american craft and when their artisans were integrated into the american economy during the late nineteenth century they became part of a complex cultural and economic framework in which their handmade crafts conveyed meanings beyond simple adornment bsumek unravels the layers of meaning that surround the branding of indian made when navajo artisans produced their goods collaborating traders tourist industry personnel and even ethnologists created a vision of navajo culture that had little to do with navajos themselves and as anglos consumed navajo crafts they also consumed the romantic notion of navajos as primitives perpetuated by the marketplace these processes of production and consumption reinforced each other creating a symbiotic relationship and influencing both mutual anglo navajo perceptions and the ways in which navajos participated in the modern marketplace ultimately bsumek shows that the sale of indian made goods cannot be explained solely through supply and demand it must also reckon with the multiple images and narratives that grew up around the goods themselves integrating consumer culture tourism and history to open new perspectives on our understanding of american indian material culture book jacket this volume is the first to explore fashion as a critical aspect of modernity one that paralleled and many times converged with the development of impressionism starting in the 1860s and continuing through the next two decades when fashion attracted the foremost writers and artists of the day although fashionable subjects have been depicted throughout history for many artists and writers including charles baudelaire stéphanie mallarmé Êmile zola gustave caillebotte edgar degas Édouard manet claude monet berthe morisot and pierre auguste renoir fashion became integral to the search for new literary and visual expression book jacket in the extravagant robert baker explores the interplay between poetry and philosophy in the modern period engaging a broad range of writers kant wordsworth and lyotard in a chapter on the sublime rimbaud nietzsche and bataille in a chapter on visionary quest and kierkegaard dickinson mallarmé and derrida in a chapter on apocalyptic negativity his guiding concern is to illuminate adventures of extravagant or wandering language that from the romantic period on both poets and philosophers have undertaken in opposition to the dominant social and discursive frames of a pervasively instrumentalized world the larger interpretative narrative shaping the book is that a dialectic of instrumental reason and creative negativity has been at work throughout modern culture baker argues that adventures of exploratory wandering emerge in the romantic period as displaced articulations of older religious discourses given the dominant trends of the modern world however these adventures repeatedly lead to severe collisions and crises in response to which they are later revised or further displaced over time as instrumental structures come to disfigure every realm of modern life poetries and philosophies at odds with these structures are forced to criticize and surpass earlier voices in their traditions that seem to have lost a transformative power thus baker argues these adventures gradually unfold into various discourses of the negative prominent in contemporary culture discourses of decentering dispersing undoing and erring it is this dialectic that baker traces and interprets in this ambitious study
