witnessing comes in as many forms as the trauma that gives birth to it the holocaust undeniably one of the greatest traumatic events in recent human history still resonates into the twenty first century the echoes that haunt those who survived continue to reach their children and others who did not share the experience directly in what ways is this massive trauma processed and understood both for survivors and future generations the answer as deftly illustrated by nancy goodman and marilyn meyers lies in the power of witnessing the act of acknowledging that trauma took place coupled with the desire to share that knowledge with others to build a space in which to reveal confront and symbolize it as the contributors to this book demonstrate testimonial writing and memoir artwork poetry documentary theater and even the simple recollection of a memory are ways that honor and serve as forms of witnessing each chapter is a fusion of narrative and metaphor that exists as evidence of the living mind that emerges amid the dead spaces produced by mass trauma creating a revelatory transformational space for the terror of knowing and the possibility for affirmation of hope courage and endurance in the face of almost unspeakable evil additionally the power of witnessing is extended from the holocaust to contemporary instances of mass trauma and to psychoanalytic treatments proving its efficacy in the dyadic relationship of everyday practice for both patient and analyst the holocaust is not an easy subject to approach but the intimate and personal stories included here add up to an act of witnessing in and of itself combining the past and the present and placing the trauma in the realm of knowing sharing and understanding contributors harriet basseches elsa blum bridget conley zilkic paula ellman susan elmendorf george halasz geoffrey hartman renee hartman elaine neumann kulp shabad dori laub clemens loew gail humphries mardirosian margit meisner henri parens arlene kramer richards arnold richards sophia richman katalin roth nina shapiro perl myra sklarew ervin staub

most of us are no strangers to health problems illness or pain but what if there s a solution to restore our well being that doesn t involve drugs surgery or other medical procedures well there is and you ll find it within your own body that s right your body has a built in capacity to heal itself a remarkable system of self repair that works day in and day out and improving its ability to heal is within your control yet most people don t fully grasp the body s incredible power to heal itself largely because traditional medicine has led us to believe that health comes from the outside in and not from the inside out did you know for example that approximately 50 percent of all illnesses when left alone will eventually heal themselves if you choose to take care of your body every day it will reward you a thousand times over improving your odds against everything from heart disease cancer and diabetes to arthritis allergies colds late winter flu and more remember you have the power to be and stay healthy because healing truly comes from within the power of self healing will help you accomplish all this and more the new millennium finds humanity situated at critical crossroads while there are many hopeful signs of cross cultural engagement and democratic dialogue it is equally the case that the challenges of warfare and injustice continue to plague nations and communities around the globe against this backdrop there exists a powerful mechanism for transforming crises into opportunities the philosophy and practice of nonviolence the expert authors brought together in this volume collectively deploy the essential teachings of nonviolence across a spectrum of contemporary issues from considering the principles of the french revolution and encouraging peace through natural resource management to exploring multiculturism and teaching peace in the elementary classroom this work is broad in scope yet detailed in its approach to the fundamental principles of nonviolence following books by malcolm gladwell and dan ariely noted economics professor william l silber explores the hail mary effect from its origins in sports to its applications to history nature politics and business a quarterback like green bay s aaron rodgers gambles with a hail mary pass at the end of a football game when he has nothing to lose the risky throw might turn defeat into victory or end in a meaningless interception rodgers may not realize it but he has much in common with figures such as george washington rosa parks woodrow wilson and adolph hitler all of whom changed the modern world with their risk loving decisions in the power of nothing to lose award winning economist william silber explores the phenomenon in politics war and business where situations with a big upside and limited downside trigger gambling behavior like with a hail mary silber describes in colorful detail how the american revolution turned on such a gamble the famous scene of washington crossing the delaware on christmas night to attack the enemy may not look like a hail mary but it was washington said days before his risky decision if this fails i think the game will be pretty well up rosa parks remained seated in the white section of an alabama bus defying local segregation laws an act that sparked the modern civil rights movement in america it was a life threatening decision for her but she said i was not frightened i just made up my mind that as long as we accepted that kind of treatment it would continue so i had nothing to lose the risky exploits of george washington and rosa parks made the world a better place but demagogues have inflicted great damage with hail marys towards the end of world war ii adolph hitler ordered a desperate counterattack the battle of the bulge to stem the allied advance into germany he said the outcome of the battle would spell either life or death for the german nation hitler failed to change the war s outcome but his desperate gamble inflicted great collateral damage including the worst wartime atrocities on american troops in europe silber shares these illuminating insights on these figures and more from woodrow wilson to donald trump asylum seekers to terrorists and rogue traders collectively they illustrate that downside protection fosters risky undertakings that it changes the world in ways we least expect
