this volume of new directions for adult and continuing education presents discussions of a new comprehensive model of experiential learning for instructors of adults in formal educational programs two major messages are conveyed through these discussions the first is that linking the conceptual foundations of adult and experiential learning to actual instructional applications is key to effective practice the second message is that paying attention to the assessment component of experiential learning is as important as the process of making choices about which methods and techniques should be selected to encourage learners to use and reflect on their own experiences this is the 62nd issue in the journal series new directions for adult and continuing education for more information on the series please see the journals and periodicals page this work has been selected by scholars as being culturally important and is part of the knowledge base of civilization as we know it amazon com marx s book throws considerable new light on german idealism deconstruction is no game of mirrors revealing the text as a play of surface against surface its more radical philosophical effort is to get behind the mirror and question the very nature of reflection the tain of the mirror tain names the tinfoil or lusterless back of the mirror explores that gritty surface without which no reflection would be possible gasche does what no one has done before in many discussions of derrida namely to tie his work in an authoritative way to its origins in the history of the criticism of reflexivity

this study provides an introduction to two of the twentieth century s most significant philosophers herman dooyeweerd and eric voegelin dooyeweerd and voegelin provided a new deeper understanding of history and philosophy they were early interpreters of the crisis of modern humanism exposing its contradictions and uncovering its fundamental spiritual problems they both re described philosophy itself as depending upon something deeper than human autonomy dooyeweerd demonstrated that all philosophizing was shaped by the commitment of the human heart and voegelin showed that all philosophizing was a reflection on one s deeper experiences of transcendence throughout their work they both consistently emphasized the limits of humanity despite these similarities dooyeweerd and voegelin came from different religious traditions they never met spoke different languages lived in different countries and with the exception of one passing reference never made mention of the other s work dooyeweerd was a christian philosopher and voegelin a classical philosopher part because there are few introductions to their works and no introductions to both of them the purpose of this book is to provide an introduction to these two significant philosophers relatively few people have studied both dooyeweerd and voegelin and even fewer who have written about them in a comparative fashion this book is in that
