the authors of the 16 essays collected in this volume use a variety of approaches to study a broad range of what are now called ego documents from the renaissance to the beginning of the 19th century the first volume in the eminent philosopher's three part examination of time and narrative exploring their relationship in the context of historical writing time and narrative builds on paul ricoeur's earlier analysis in the rule of metaphor of semantic innovation at the level of the sentence ricoeur here examines the creation of meaning at the textual level with narrative rather than metaphor as the ruling concern ricoeur finds a healthy circle between time and narrative time is humanized to the extent that it portrays temporal experience ricoeur proposes a theoretical model of this circle using augustine's theory of time and aristotle's theory of plot and further develops an original thesis of the mimetic function of narrative he concludes with a comprehensive survey and critique of modern discussions of historical knowledge understanding and writing from aron and mandelbaum in the late 1930s to the work of the annales school and that of anglophone philosophers of history of the 1960s and 1970s this work in my view puts the whole problem of narrative not to mention philosophy of history on a new and higher plane of discussion hayden white history and theory the book traces the changing relation and intense debates between law and literature in u s american culture using examples from the 18th to the 20th century including novels by charles brockden brown james fenimore cooper harper lee and william gaddis since the early american republic the critical representation of legal matters in literary fictions and cultural narratives about the law served an important function for the cultural imagination and legitimation of law and justice in the united states one of the most essential questions that literary representations of the law are concerned with the study argues is the unstable relation between language and truth or more specifically between rhetoric and evidence in examining the truth claims of legal language and rhetoric and the evidentiary procedures and protocols which are meant to stabilize these claims literary fictions about the law aim to provide an alternative public discourse that translates the law s abstractions into exemplary stories of individual experience yet while literature may thus strive to institute itself as an ethical counter narrative to the law in order to become in shelley s famous phrase the legislator of the world it has to face the instability of its own relation to truth the critical investigation of legal rhetoric in literary fiction thus also and inevitably entails a negotiation of the intrinsic value of literary evidence history taught at the elementary middle high school and even college levels often excludes significant events from african american history such as the murder of emmett till or the murder of four black girls by the ku klux klan in the sixteenth street baptist church bombing in birmingham such events are integral parts of history that continue to inform america s racial politics their exclusion is a problem that this work addresses by bringing more visibility to documentary films focusing on the events books treating the history of documentary films follow a similar pattern omitting the efforts of filmmakers who have continued to focus on african american history this book works to make documentary discourse more complete bringing attention to films that cover the african american experience in four areas civil rights sports electronic media and the contemporary black struggle demonstrating how the issues continue to inform america s racial politics
