drawing on the expertise of researchers educators practitioners and those with lived experience of accessing social work and social care services this book presents both an objective and practice relevant overview of strengths based practice in the uk and international examples of strengths based practice being applied in other contexts the potential benefits for individuals families and communities of social work adopting a strengths based approach in adult social work and social care are widely recognised across the four nations of the uk despite this there remains much uncertainty about what good strengths based approaches are and how they can be practically supported in practice policy and research presenting a contemporary picture of how strengths based practice is understood within a UK social work and social care context within each of the home nations this book draws on the latest research and practice knowledge to discuss and critique the impacts and implementation of the main strength based models drawing on learning from other countries and practice within children's services it also reflects on the theoretical thinking which underpins strengths perspectives and identifies future challenges and opportunities within adult social work and social care in the UK it will be of interest to all scholars students and practitioners of social work and social care across all four nations of the UK and those from other countries who are interested in international learning adult social care in Britain has been at the centre of much media and public attention in recent years revelations of horrific abuse in learning disability settings the collapse of major private care home providers abject failures of inspection and regulation and uncertainty over how long term care of older people should be funded have all given rise to serious public concern in this short form book part of the critical and radical debates in social work series Iain Ferguson and Michael Lavalette give an historical overview of adult social care the roots of the current crisis are located in the under valuing of older people and adults with disabilities and in the marketisation of social care over the past two decades the authors critically examine recent developments in social work with adults including the personalisation agenda and the prospects for adult social care and social work in a context of seemingly never ending austerity adult social care has emerged as a distinct policy area in the UK and one which has come under increasing scrutiny by government and other bodies with the expectation that in future many more adults will need care and support ideas have emerged about a transformation of adult social care the focus of this wide ranging book is on the major themes in policy and provision including personalisation integration user participation the cost of long term care risk and safeguarding care quality and workforce issues and is one of the first texts to deal with adult social care as a distinct entity and is an up to date source on contemporary government policies debates and research the book encourages readers to think critically about decisions being made and about the direction of future policy the accessible book will be a valuable resource for undergraduate students in social policy health and social care and social work those taking advanced vocational qualifications in social care and practitioners this report provides a high level overview of the findings of the social work inspection agency swia's performance inspection programme 2005 2009 the swia also completed criminal justice inspections multi agency inspections and individual investigations and evidence is included here from these other inspections adult social care was the first major social policy domain in England to be transferred from the state to the market there is now a forty year period to look back at to consider the thinking behind the strategy the impacts on commissioners and providers of care on the care workforce and on those who use care and support services in this book Bob Hudson meticulously charts these shifts he challenges the dominant market paradigm explores alternative models for a post COVID 19 future and locates the debate within the wider literature on political thinking and policy change
