making identity matter provides a clear and lively critique of a variety of uses of the concept of identity within sociology and associated human sciences in the early chapters robin williams draws on a range of historical and contemporary sources to describe and discuss some common images of identity as subjective achievement as social location and as discursive effect in later chapters the author explores recent empirical studies which have argued for the suspension or modification of conventional theoretical assertions about how and why identity matters to human subjects in their ordinary lives williams concludes by endorsing recent arguments for detailed descriptions of the ways in which identity matters arise and are dealt with within and through the accountability of social interaction making identity matter will be essential reading for all those involved in the human sciences who are concerned to understand the significance accorded to identity within the wider effort to examine the relationship between subjectivity action and social and cultural institutions weaving together her most influential writings of the 1990s bronwyn davies offers a unique engagement with poststructuralism that defies the boundaries between theory and embodied practice whereas poststructuralists are often accused of excessive abstraction davies sophisticated and nuanced discussions of subjectivity agency epistemology feminism and power are embedded in vital depictions of lived experience and empirical research a renowned scholar of education and gender formation davies shows the importance of poststructural perspectives for her own research in classrooms on playgrounds with literary texts and her own life history lucid prose accessible for students and refreshing for researchers and theorists alike makes poststructural concepts usable as conceptual frameworks for interpreting and analyzing the social world examines the works and literary careers of two of Spain's most commercially successful contemporary female authors: Almudena Grandes (Madrid, 1960) and Lucía Etxebarria (Valencia, 1966). This study analyzes how the values inscribed in the authors' literary universes highlight the ambiguous fragility of constructions of identity and gender.

How is identity constructed, maintained, and altered in different geographical, personal, and societal contexts? A multi-disciplinary approach is indispensable for an understanding of the deeply intertwined processes of identity construction and boundary formation. In this spirit, identity dynamics and the construction of boundaries brings together scholars from political science, human geography, and area studies who present a variety of perspectives on the subject. It is the fruit of a series of seminars and workshops on the themes of identity, nationalism, globalisation, migration, citizenship, and the removal and displacement of borders. The authors analyse a number of issues regarding identity and boundary construction, drawing on case studies from a wide range of countries including Denmark, Ireland, Sweden, and Russia.
