document from the year 2015 in the subject sociology religion language english abstract without the fear of contradicting anyone it can generally be held that academicians worldwide describe karl marx as an atheist this point needs not to be challenged or scrutinised in great depths the reason is that marx s personal mentality or intellectual bending does not profoundly affect the making of marxism and its applications to the real world the first country to embrace scientific socialism along marxist lines came into existence in the form of erstwhile soviet union the soviet union or the union of soviet socialist republics ussr was a country that began taking shape in the year 1917 however marx had died rather long ago in the year 1883 so any attempt to find a direct personalised connection between marx and ussr is nothing but academically irrelevant this irrelevance is further bulged when it is considered that marx was especially interested in the affairs of germany according to marx only well developed capitalist economies were expected to be at the verge of a socialist revolution desai 2004 however when the bolsheviks of a backward capitalist country like russia managed to establish the ussr marx s predictions came under close scrutiny by the contemporary thinkers desai 2004 in the current research work the economic importance of this development is not the main focus area the main focus area is marxism and religion the main point of contention is not what marx thought about religion overwhelming majority of scholars think that marx was a decided atheist however the main point of contention is what marxists should actually do while handling religion religion even in its simplest form has the capability of manifesting as both personalised and socially dispersed phenomena while exploring a possible alternative to capitalism marxist and pro marxist leaders contemplated on various societal issues which included religion and theology as well desai 2004 lobkowitz 1964 so it is a complex yet necessary pursuit to understand how marxism needs religion to be handled if marxism were completely antireligious then most of the world s socialist governments would not have allowed religious freedom at least officially for example even the soviet constitution did never authorise the state to destroy religion or persecute people on religious grounds ginsburgs 1982 this kind of approach cannot be simplified just on the basis of a longing for internationalism seminar paper from the year 2014 in the subject communications mass media grade 94 communication university of china institute of communication studies course theories of communication language english abstract the purpose of this paper is to examine and criticize the representation of female body image by mass media for decades the bodies of women have been tailored to highlight products and services by advertisers and owners of the media as a means of generating capital gains this tailoring has led to what many have come to accept as the ideal image of beauty that every woman should endeavor to achieve this paper continues the discussion on a topic that is widely and frequently discussed the theoretical framework that this paper employs is based on one of the most applauded theory in communication studies the political economy of communication and media theory which was first coined by Dallas William Smythe this theory is pertinent to understand the presence of the commercial forces behind creating and maintaining this ideal body image particularly by advertisers in mass media the form of mass media that this paper concentrates on is women's magazine with specific focus on advertisements regarding beauty and cosmetic products services additionally case studies in the US and China are used to depict the influence mass media representation of female body image on women doctoral thesis dissertation from the year 2022 in the subject communications public relations advertising marketing social media grade pass course marketing language English abstract HEIS in Zambia have adopted the use of social media in advertising online learning and also for administrative purposes social media has developed in the recent years to a level where it presents itself as the biggest virtual market with the potential to increase geographic markets and revenue for organizations while cases of HEIS that have used social media marketing for purposes of marketing exist in other places there is no significant research in the Zambian environment that shows empirical evidence that the use of social media marketing can impact marketing performance in HEIS the purpose of this study is to investigate the effectiveness of social media marketing on marketing performance in HEIS and the findings are meant to build a model for social media marketing for HEIS in Zambia in see figure 5.2 in chapter 5 data in this research was collected from twelve HEIS using both qualitative and quantitative research methods since this research is a mixed research with both deductive and inductive arguments the data collection techniques included a semi structured interview for qualitative data and a semi structured questionnaire for the quantitative data data analysis was carried out using different techniques in SPSS for the quantitative data and content analysis using Google Analytics for the qualitative data the implications of the findings in chapter four mean that HEIS in Zambia must begin to use social media not only for administrative or advertising purposes but they must use it effectively as a tool to increase their market share and increase their revenue the findings and data analysis in this research indicated that social media is effective in marketing HEIS in Zambia however these institutions must adopt the suggested model in figure 5.2 in chapter 5 if they are to enhance social media performance for marketing human fecal constituents were investigated for possible use in waste recovery systems aboard a space vehicle during a journey of long duration 13 months it was necessary to first isolate them and then to evaluate their potential usefulness a review of literature indicated that there is incomplete knowledge of human fecal components that detailed knowledge of the chemical nature of only a small proportion of fecal components exists and that these have rarely been isolated in any quantity however protein minerals and trace elements present in feces are possibly useful materials investigation indicated that use of fecal protein or its component amino acids as nutrients for man would require supplementation of the diet a number of minerals were isolated if found to have nutritional value feces could possibly serve as an available source of supply insufficient information e.g. authentic space diets and identification of useful fecal components exists to compare or recommend feasible methods for recovery
