in recent years there has been an upsurge in the number of forced displacements due to natural disasters armed conflicts and pandemics which has favoured an increase in the number of temporary accommodations although the provision of shelter after an emergency situation is one of the priorities of humanitarian aid the reality is that the conditions in which people live in a situation of forced displacement are absolutely precarious and overcrowded nowadays this type of housing tends to have a short lifespan deepening the environmental impact and the generation of waste likewise added to this great problem is the linear economic system implemented worldwide which also causes a high rate of waste this investigation develops an eco efficient design protocol that determines the basic premises in any emergency situation therefore avoiding the precarious nature to which those in forced displacement are exposed moreover the research investigates different constructive solutions that can respond to situations of natural catastrophes or humanitarian disasters where emergency housing is needed as well as the possible alternatives from the point of view of circular economy eco efficient and environmentally correct solutions are sought which can be adaptable to the different scenarios where emergency housing may be needed thus creating a rapid easy functional and environmentally correct architecture adaptable to these types of situations the study shows that the factors that characterize emergency architecture can be an example of where the issues around the sustainability factor are applied in a practical way the main objectives of this study are to develop an eco efficient design protocol which determines the basic premises in any emergency situation and to find eco efficient and environmentally correct solutions adaptable to different scenarios which have similar climatic characteristics and where emergency housing may be needed thus creating a type of ephemeral architecture but sensitive to the user to whom it is intended and in accordance with the optimal conditions of habitability this edited book focuses on how csr and corporate governance in ibero america have been employed analyzed and examined in different sectors and scenarios it takes a trans regional approach unlike most research which has been focused on studying specific initiatives or experiences in a particular country first published in 2002 routledge is an imprint of taylor francis an informa company this unique critical sociolinguistic ethnography explores alternative migrant regulated institutions of resistance and subversive communication technology the locutorios or ethnic call shops these migrant owned businesses act as a window into their multimodal and hybrid linguistic and communicative practices and into their own linguistic hierarchies and non mainstream sociolinguistic orders here socially displaced but technologically empowered transnational migrant populations actively find subversive ways to access information and communication technologies as such they mobilise their own resources to successfully inhabit catalonia at the margins of powerful institutions the book also focuses on the internal social organisation dynamics as well as on the simultaneous fight against and re production of practices and processes of social difference and social inequality among migrants themselves classical economics keynes and money casts new light on an approach to economic theory and policy that combines the modern classical theory of prices and income distribution with a keynesian analysis of money and finance structured in four parts the work considers issues within classical economics monetary economics keynesian and post keynesian economics rationality and economic methodology these themes are all central to the work of carlo panico and the chapters both reflect on and build on his key contributions to the field this collection is of interest to advanced students and researchers in the history of economic thought monetary theory financial economics and heterodox economics
