this accessible illustrated introduction takes the reader through the rich chinese literary tradition from ancient times to the twentieth century exploring poetry drama opera novels short stories the modern media and the authors who created these cultural treasures

what happens when language wars are not about hurling insults or quibbling over meanings but are waged in the physical sounds and shapes of language itself native and foreign speakers mother tongues and national languages have jostled for distinction throughout the modern period the fight for global dominance between the english and chinese languages opens into historical battles over the control of the medium through standardization technology bilingualism pronunciation and literature in the sinophone world encounters between global languages as well as the internal tensions between mandarin and other chinese dialects present a dynamic interconnected picture of languages on the move in sound and script in chinese diaspora jing tsu explores the new global language trade arguing that it aims at more sophisticated ways of exerting influence besides simply wielding knuckles of power through an analysis of the different relationships between language standardization technologies of writing and modern chinese literature around the world from the nineteenth century to the present this study transforms how we understand the power of language in migration and how that is changing the terms of cultural dominance drawing from an unusual array of archival sources this study cuts across the usual china west divide and puts its finger on the pulse of a pending supranational world under literary governance in the city of ye in the chinese literary landscape joanne tsao demonstrates how the city of ye changed from an iconic space that represented cao cao's heroic enterprise to a symbol of the fruitlessness of human endeavour and then finally to a literary landmark a synecdoche for the vicissitudes of human life caught in the predictable cycles of dynastic rise and decline through a close reading of literary works on ye she illustrates how the city transformed from a lived to imaginative space to become a symbol in the poetic lexicon making use of literary and historical texts on ye and its material remains through the song and beyond she shows the potency of place as a generative force in literary production and in historical discourse selected for choice's list of outstanding academic books for 1997 a comprehensive overview of china's 3 000 years of literary history from its beginnings to the present day after an introductory section discussing the concept of literature and other features of traditional chinese society crucial to understanding its writings the second part is broken into five major time periods earliest times to 100 c e 100 1000 1000 1875 1875 1915 and 1915 to the present corresponding to changes in book production the development of the major literary genres is traced in each of these periods the reference section in the cloth edition includes an annotated bibliography of more than 120 pages the paper edition has a shorter bibliography and is intended for classroom use a collection of essays originally published between 1955 and 1983

this key concepts pivot discusses the significance of the ancient chinese concept of xing or association in defining chinese civilization and thought through the centuries an approach unique to literary creation in china xing highlights the importance chinese civilization sets by the integration of intellect emotion and will into a highly consistent concept across its personal and public spheres the book explores how the concept has been a widely used creative technique even in the earliest collections of chinese poems using metaphor and symbolism to set the scene and indicate thoughts and emotions invested in the vehicle of metaphor as well as its impact on chinese literature and philosophy as a domain of multiple meanings in classical chinese aesthetics a collection of essays which address literary sociology with the intention of illuminating modern china its literature and those who work in the field the sociological background to the production and consumption of literary texts is examined shedding light on their meaning and structure leaving the world to enter the world focuses on the fictional and theoretical writings of han shaogong one of the most striking voices in contemporary chinese literature han played a central role in the root seeking trend that dominated the literary scene of the people's republic of china in the mid 1980s his work has won him acclaim from a wide range of readers in chinese and other languages a highlight being the 1996 novel dictionary of maqiao critics have labeled han the leader of a nationalist movement in search of a cultural identity mark leenhouts shows that han s role is much more complex demonstrating that his literary practice is a highly individual creative continuation of chinese tradition han s personal style transcends the narrow boundaries of root seeking as it has been portrayed in literary histories and criticism to date this rectification of the one sided image of han shaogong has profound implications for the significance of root seeking literature and for questions of tradition and modernity that have been among the most hotly debated topics in chinese literary intellectual and political thought throughout the 20th century leaving the world to enter the world does justice to the individuality of the literary author by taking the intrinsic structure of the literary work as its starting point leenhouts close textual analysis as intelligent and pragmatic as it is sensitive will help counterbalance the socio political orientation typical of much recent research by seeing han shaogong as a writer rather than a mouthpiece of historical forces this book opens up new perspectives for enjoying his literary mastery this pioneering book is the first english language collection of academic articles on jin yong s works it introduces an important dissenting voice in chinese literature to the english speaking audience jin yong is hailed as the most influential martial arts novelist in twentieth century chinese literary history his novels are regarded by readers and critics as the common language of chinese around the world because of their international circulation and various adaptations film television serials comic books video games not only has the public affirmed the popularity and literary value of his novels but the academic world has finally begun to notice his achievement as well the significance of this book lies in its interpretation of jin yong s novels through the larger lens of twentieth century chinese literature it considers the important theoretical issues arising from such terms as modernity gender nationalism east west conflict and high literature versus low culture the contributors of the articles are all eminent scholars including famous exiled scholar philosopher and writer liu zaifu the fu or rhymeprose is a major poetic form in chinese literature most popular between the 2nd century b c and 6th century a d unlike what is usually considered chinese poetry it is a hybrid of prose and rhymed verse more expansive than the condensed lyrics verging on what might be called whitmanesque the thirteen long poems included here are descriptions of and meditations on such subjects as mountains and abandoned cities the sea and the wind owls and goddesses partings and the idle life
