this dual language compilation of seven complete major works and many shorter pieces from the confucian period through the ch ing dynasty will be indispensable to students of chinese literature stephen owen s masterful translations and commentaries have opened up chinese literary thought to theorists and scholars of other languages

this book first published in 1980 is a history of modern chinese literary criticism between the years 1917 and 1930 it examines its development within the overall frame of reference of chinese national literature from the beginnings of the chinese literary revolution in 1917 until the end of the first efforts at a revolutionary proletarian literature in 1930 chinese literary criticism is also analysed within the framework of world literature of world literary thought especially of the impact of the progressive literary criticism marxist aesthetic thought has dominated chinese literary life for half a century but little is known about how this distinctive western school of thought came to be accepted paul g pickowicz fills in the gap tracing the evolution of chinese marxist literary thought by focusing on ch u ch iu pai china s most important marxist literary intellectual of the twenties and thirties ch u and his contemporaries interpreted the writing of marx engels plekhanov lafargue trotsky lenin and lunacharsky in ways that would answer important questions about the relationship between art and society the moral obligations of the writer the manner in which revolutionaries should perceive the literary treasures of the past the impact of capitalism on artistic culture and the nature of art in the socialist society of the future paul g pickowicz finds that chinese writers responded to marxism in a variety of ways some stressed voluntaristic themes some emphasized deterministic elements others like ch u attempted to synthesize conflicting strains moreover the transition to marxism did not constitute a radical break from the liberal traditions associated with the may fourth literary revolution instead leftist writers interpreted marxism in ways that were compatible with their deeply ingrained may fourth intellectual predispositions ch u was the first to make a marxist critique of the may fourth generation of literary intellectuals and to analyze the failings of the leftist literary movement itself his writings are of contemporary relevance for the issues he raised such as the failure of leftist writers to place the revolutionary literary movement on a mass base ch u s writings influenced the literary thought of mao tse tung and the issues ch u raised continue to be debated with emotion in china today this title is part of uc press s voices revived program which commemorates university of california press s mission to seek out and cultivate the brightest minds and give them voice reach and impact drawing on a backlist dating to 1893 voices revived makes high quality peer reviewed scholarship accessible once again using print on demand technology this title was originally published in 1981 centered around the figures of hu feng a leftist literary theorist who promoted subjectivism and his disciple lu ling known for his psychological fiction this study explores theoretical and fictional responses to the problematic of self at the heart of the experience of modernity in 20th century china the emergence of the chinese socialist realist novel can best be understood in light of the half century long formation of the modern concept of literature in china globalized in the wake of modern capitalism literary modernity configures the literary text in a relationship to both modern philosophy and literary theory this book traces china s unique complex and creative articulation of literary modernity beginning with lu xun s the true story of ah q cai yi s aesthetic theory of the type dianxing and the image xingxiang is then explored in relation to global currents in literary thought and philosophy making possible a fundamental rethinking of chinese socialist realist novels like yang mo s song of youth and luo guangbin and yan yiyan s red crag

the columbia companion to modern chinese literature features more than fifty short essays on specific writers and literary trends from the qing period 1895 1911 to the present both a teaching tool and a go to research companion this volume is a one of a kind resource for mastering modern literature in the chinese speaking world marxism initiated a new era not only for people to fight for socialist future but also for each discipline of sciences to witness profound changes in such a context literature which has always been closely related to politics will inevitably move toward a new direction this book is composed of two parts part one studies the development of literary theories in contemporary china from a marxist perspective it introduces the basic ideas of marxist literary theories as well as their spread and development in china such as the combination of the theories and chinese revolutionary literature moreover it discusses the challenges facing marxist literary theories in the 21st century under the background of diversification of literature and art in terms of theory and practice and high technologies which brought about electronic writing and digital communication of literary works the second part elucidates the author's insights into major issues concerning literary theories e.g. the relationship between literature and people literature and reality perception and rationality in literary creation etc this book will appeal to scholars and students of literary aesthetics and chinese literary and cultural studies people who are interested in history of contemporary chinese literature will also benefit from this book an attempt to describe the new boundaries of the field of chinese studies this book presents a systematic exploration of ancient chinese literary criticism spanning from the pre qin period to the late qing dynasty structured chronologically into seven parts each section comprises chapters dedicated to influential literati the study examines the prevailing intellectual climate sociocultural context literary characteristics and the evolution of literary thought across different historical stages it highlights the transmission and transformation of ideas among various schools offering critical insights into the works and perspectives of key literary theorists the author provides objective commentary and contributes original interpretations that enrich scholarly understanding and serve as a valuable reference for researchers in the field of chinese literary criticism each age has its value system of literary criticism whose construction is inseparable from the mainstream ideology of the society in contemporary china the mainstream ideology is inevitably marxism this book is composed of two parts the first part studies literary criticism in contemporary china whose development is closely related to the popularization of marxism and the unavoidable collisions between marxism and other theories it also introduces some relevant critical debates such as the debate on the criticism of yu pingbo a representative and one of the authoritative scholars studying the dream of the red chamber in the second part the author expounds the history of chinese literature from a macro level perspective involving works genres ideologies schools etc he also discusses the challenges facing chinese literature under the background of economic globalization will politics cultures including literature and arts be globalized in addition the author puts forward that a dynamic concept is needed for a better understanding of chinese culture and gives his suggestions about the adjustments chinese people should make for the present this book will attract scholars and students of literary criticism studies and chinese literary studies people who are interested in chinese literature and thought will also benefit from this book this book begins with a reflection on dichotomies in comparative studies of chinese and western literature and aesthetics critiquing an oppositional paradigm ming dong gu argues that despite linguistic and cultural differences the two traditions share much common ground in critical theory aesthetic thought metaphysical conception and reasoning focusing on issues of language writing and linguistics metaphor metonymy and poetics mimesis and representation and lyricism expressionism creativity and aesthetics gu demonstrates that though ways of conception and modes of expression may differ the two traditions have cultivated similar aesthetic feelings and critical ideas capable of fusing critical and aesthetic horizons with a two way dialogue this book covers a broad spectrum of critical discourses and uncovers fascinating connections among a wide range of thinkers theorists scholars and aestheticians thereby making a significant contribution to bridging the aesthetic divide and envisioning world theory and global aesthetics this book explores chinese novelists distinctive contributions to the china debate in terms of the key issues of chinese language power dynamics and confucian tradition as china is rising chinese scholars and policymakers are debating heatedly over china s past present and future who are the major debaters how do they analyze china s problems and figure out solutions what are the main achievements and weaknesses of the chinese intellectual debate and discourse chinese novelists also get involved in the china debate however their voices are rarely heard this book argues that by dramatizing the diversities of ordinary social actors everyday languages active discursive practices and enchanted local traditions chinese novelists do not merely illustrate the dominant liberal the new left and the new confucian ideologies but enrich the china debate and provide a novel approach to our understanding of modern china
