Robert Frank's Microeconomics and Behavior covers the essential topics of microeconomics while exploring the relationship between economics analysis and human behavior. The book's clear narrative appeals to students, and its numerous examples help students develop economic intuition. This book introduces modern topics not often found in intermediate textbooks. Its focus throughout is to develop a student's capacity to think like an economist.

This book covers the essential topics of microeconomics while exploring the relationship between economics analysis and human behavior, which in this context is of significant interest to today's academic community. The clear narrative appeals to students, and the numerous examples help the development of economic intuition. The text introduces modern topics not often found in intermediate textbooks. Readers are encouraged to develop the distinctive mindset known as thinking like an economist.

The fourth European edition of Microeconomics and Behaviour builds on its core analytical foundations and embeds them in accessible and engaging real world examples to demonstrate the relationship between economic thinking and analysis and human behaviour by blending theory with practical application. Students are encouraged to think like economists and critically assess the technical tools of microeconomics and to find more interesting and innovative ways of applying them and develop a lasting interest in the discipline. Key features include fully updated chapters with new and expanded material on the economics of happiness, halo and decoy effects, price discrimination, the gig economy and self employment, and partial versus general equilibrium. Extensive pedagogical features including worked examples, key terms and definitions in chapter exercises, chapter summaries and review questions to enhance understanding and retention. Economic naturalist examples illustrate how economic principles can explain everyday experiences and observations. New examples include why does an efficient health service not do everything to keep people alive, why did Taylor Swift fans not sell their tickets for the Eras tour, and why do most cryptocurrencies fail within a few years.
