this book explores the question of whether the ideal right to science and culture exists it proposes that the human right to science and culture is of a utopian character and argues for the necessity of the existence of such a right by developing a philosophical project situated in postmodernity based on the assumption of thinking in terms of excedence the book brings a novel and critical approach to human rights in general and to the human right to science and culture in particular it offers a new way of thinking about access to knowledge in the postanalogue postmodern society inspired by twentieth century critical theorists such as levinas gadamer bauman and habermas the book begins by using excedence as a way of thinking about the individual speech and text it considers paradigms arising from postanalogue society revealing the neglected normative content of the human right to science and culture and proposes a morality dignity and solidarity situated in a postmodern context finally the book concludes by responding to questions on happiness dignity and that which is social including an annex which presents the author s private project related to thinking in the context of the journey from myth to reason this book is of interest to researchers in the fields of philosophy and the theory of law human rights intellectual property and social theory this book endeavours to understand the seemingly direct link between utopianism and the usa discussing novels that have never been brought together in this combination before even though they all revolve around intentional communities imlay s the emigrants 1793 hawthorne s the blithedale romance 1852 howland s papas own girl 1874 griggs s imperium in imperio 1899 and du bois s the quest of the silver fleece 1911 they relate nation and utopia not by describing perfect societies but by writing about attempts to immediately live radically different lives signposting the respective communal history the readings provide a literary perspective to communal studies and add to a deeply necessary historicization for strictly literary approaches to us utopianism and for studies that focus on pilgrims puritans founding fathers as utopian practitioners this book therefore highlights how the authors evaluated the usa s utopian potential and traces the nineteenth century development of the utopian imagination from various perspectives an exploration of the concept of utopia in latin america from the earliest accounts of the new world to current cultural production the carefully selected essays in this volume represent the latest research on the topic by some of the most important latin americanists working in north american academia today in this volume john farrell shows that political utopias societies with laws and customs designed to short circuit the foibles of human nature for the benefit of our collective existence have a perennial opponent the honor based culture of aristocracy that dominated most of the world from ancient times into early modernity and whose status based competitive psychology persists to the present day while utopias aim at equality the heroic imperative defends the need for personal and collective dignity it asks the utopian do we really want to live in a world without struggle without heroes and without the stories they create because the utopian dilemma pits essential values against each other equity versus freedom dignity versus justice few who confront it can simply take sides rather the dilemma itself has been a generative stimulus for classic authors from plato and thomas more to george orwell and aldous huxley farrell follows their struggles with the utopian dilemma and with each other providing a deepened understanding of the moral and emotional dynamics of the western political imagination introduction chapter 8 chapter 9 chapter 15 chapter 16 and conclusion of this book are freely available as a downloadable open access pdf at taylorfrancis.com under a creative commons attribution non commercial no derivatives cc by nc nd 4.0 license seminar paper from the year 2020 in the subject english language and literature studies literature grade 1.0 university of osnabrück language english abstract this paper will argue that in parable of the sower by octavia butler creates utopian hope by realistically building a dystopian vision which immanently criticises the present for reasons of brevity this will be elucidated mainly using the example of capitalism while an abundance of other issues taken up by the novel like climate change democracy racism or violence would certainly serve as productive foci of analysis as well capitalism will be the centre of attention because it is at the core of the apocalyptic circumstances portrayed in the novel it also constitutes an intersection with most of the other issues named above making capitalism a suitable starting point firstly a short overview will be given on contemporary interpretations of the state of utopia pointing out capitalism as a main factor in the changing of utopianism among others krishan kumar s the ends of utopia jerry phillips s utopia and catastrophe in octavia butler s parable of the sower and darko suvin s metamorphoses of science fiction will be consulted realism cognition and estrangement will be pointed out as main tools of offering immanent critique and in extension utopian hope secondly the production of immanent critique in parable of the sower will be analysed with the help of mathias nilges s paper on the realism of speculation mike davis s city of quartz will serve to illustrate the realism in butler s vision of future los angeles the second example will examine the company town olivar briefly consulting rottinghaus pluretti s and sutko s discursive paper the end of material scarcity the effectiveness of this immanent critique will be discussed lastly this paper will seek to show how immanent critique allows for the creation of utopian hope pointing towards the transformative value of utopian literature presented in carl freedman s critical theory and science fiction this paper will because of its limited length not be able to further investigate critiques of capitalism in any other context than that of butler s novel also it will not be analysing the portrayal of capitalism as essentially nostalgic and conservative making it the opposite of the utopian vision of adaptation and progress that it is contrasted with this paper will not delve deeper into other interesting aspects of the generation of utopian hope like narration by developing the concept of critical space this work presents a genealogy of 20th century american fiction it argues that the radical american fiction of jack london upton sinclair john dos passos and josephine herbst re imagines the spatial concerns of late 19th century utopian american texts
