texts from the patristic era with commentary displaying the roots of the deeply mystical spirituality that has flourished among christians throughout the ages by linking together a series of brilliantly chosen texts from the early centuries of the church the author lays bare the roots of the deeply mystical spirituality that has flourished among christians throughout the ages this book will appeal to anyone who is interested in the field of spirituality it is a masterly contribution to christian scholarship and this second edition includes an extraordinarily useful index the nature and origin of jewish mysticism is a controversial subject this volume explores the subject by examining both the hebrew and aramaic tradition dead sea scrolls 1 enoch and the greek philosophical tradition philo and also examines the christian transformation of jewish mysticism in paul and revelation it provides for a nuanced treatment that differentiates different strands of thought that may be considered mystical the hebrew tradition is mythical in nature and concerned with various ways of being in the presence of god the greek tradition allows for a greater degree of unification and participation in the divine the new testament texts are generally closer to the greek tradition although greek philosophy would have a huge effect on later christian mysticism the book is intended for scholars and advanced students of ancient judaism and early christianity includes text of maaseh merkavah in english translation in this book on the arnhem mystical sermons ineke cornet offers the first in depth study of the mystical and theological content of this sixteenth century sermon collection from st agnes in arnhem in these conferences dating to 1961 thomas merton provides for his audience of young monks an overview of major themes and figures in the christian mystical tradition as an integral part of their religious inheritance and a crucial part of their spiritual formation from fathers of the church such as st athanasius and st gregory of nyssa through such important medieval theologians as st bonaventure hadewijch and meister eckhart to the great spanish carmelites st teresa of avila and st john of the cross merton traces such key topics as the integration of theology and spirituality the importance of natural contemplation recognizing the divine presence in creation the centrality of apophatic or dark contemplation and the role of spiritual direction in forming mature and balanced contemplatives examines concepts from world religions and explains christian mystics in history in perspective and through art includes discussion of modern explorations of mysticism conducted by psychologists like jung and maslow a monumental event in the publishing history of english language reference books on the subjects of jewish mystical thought and practice some books on mysticism offer new age syncretism others propose simplistic methods of producing spiritual experiences still others deconstruct religious experience the roots of christian mysticism by oliver clement however avoids these pitfalls clement presents the mysticism of the early fathers themselves from whose writings he offers exceptionally rich selections that are not readily available in so doing he introduces the reader to christian mysticism through the words of those who were Â drunk with god Â but whose religious experience was firmly rooted in christ most importantly given the modern propensity for bogus spirituality clement shows the indissoluble unity between mysticism and doctrine the fathers speak doctrine in voices radiant with the dark vision of god and their doctrine is both the fruit of prayer and the form of spirituality from this perspective the churchÂ s teachings about god christ church sacrament and christian vocation become the objects of contemplation and the personal quest for god finds its way within not apart from the church ecclesia christian mysticism therefore always occurs within the womb of the church particularly within the locus of the liturgy and thus is prevented at the outset from becoming merely a freewheeling and self authenticating form of emotional exuberance mysticism thus firmly rooted is considered the normal spiritual life of all christians all the faithful are called to realize fully the grace of their baptism that is to fulfill their humanity by being divinized through grace these words might be disconcerting or raise the specter of Â enthusiasm Â but some proper understanding of this calling however embryonic is indispensable to spiritual growth to the life of the church and to the transformation of culture why for example when so many americans claim to be christian does their faith have so little impact on our culture or why are the churchÂ s moral teachings found to be so excessively burdensome perhaps christians have seldom been directed toward a spirituality that would open them to a fuller vision of their true destiny in christ a recent classroom experience illustrates the point a young christian father of two vigorously proposed many practical reasons for using contraception his understanding of fatherhood operated on a purely naturalistic level his concern to provide for his children likewise revolved around material goods but once he glimpsed the ultimate destiny in christ to which he and his children were called he saw his fatherhood as a participation in a sacred mission and trust only then did the churchÂ s teaching and the sacrifices it entails make sense enough to follow such illumination is an essential component in the birth of mystical life from which for the fathers the moral life flows to use clementÂ s terms Â only when the beauty goodness of the truth captures the spirit heart is the person able to engage in christian praxis and to make the sacrifices necessary not merely to be good but to be transformed into christ Â this transformation entails strenuous spiritual combat with a fallen human nature that the fathers understand with exquisite perception but even here the patristic thrust is basically positive an attraction to the beauty and goodness of god that calls forth virtue rather than an emphasis on the direct destruction of sin clement aptly describes asceticism as Â an awakening from the sleep walking of daily life it enables the word to clear the silt away in the depth of the soul freeing the spring of living waters it is the word who acts but we have to co operate with him not so much be exertion of will power as by loving attentiveness Â although spiritual growth naturally encompasses the activities of prayer fasting and so forth clement never discusses this apart from christ and trinity salvation is not achieved through pelagian self development but in christ and through his church the fathersÂ theological center prevents their mysticism from collapsing into self centered or naturalistic forms the beauty that attracts is never separated from her sisters truth and goodness the roots of christian mysticism needs to be read by christians seeking spiritual depth and by anyone wanting to taste doctrine as a living word it is an excellent introduction to patristic thought and offers not only extensive selections of their writings but an appendix of about seventy pages of biographical material only one criticism of the book is offered references to modern writers need to be noted so the reader can pursue them otherwise this book is a gem jerrilyn szelle crisis april 1996
