the 82nd airborne division spent more time in combat than any other american airborne unit of world war ii and its fierce battlefield tenacity earned it the reputation of one of the finest divisions in the world yet no comprehensive history of the 82nd during world war ii exists today the sword of st michael corrects this significant gap in the literature offering a lively narrative and thoroughly researched history of the famous division author guy lofaro himself a distinguished officer of the division interweaves the voices of soldiers at both ends of the chain of command from Eisenhower to the lowest private making extensive use of primary sources Lofaro offers a work of insightful analysis situating the division's exploits in a strategic and operational context

This new book tells the complete story of the famous 82nd Airborne Division from its formation in 1917 through its legendary World War II campaigns Sicily Normandy and Holland Vietnam Grenada Nicaragua Operation Desert Storm to the present and examines the many changes from a World War I infantry division to the rapid deployment organization it is today the 82nd helped develop the concepts of airborne warfare during World War II after the war the 82nd continued to develop airborne techniques and trained to provide the United States with a strategic deployment force since World War II the division has been called upon to assist in domestic and foreign disturbances since World War I the division has gone through many changes but it still bears its World War I nickname the All American on the 82nd Airborne Division in World War 2

This WWII Battlefield Guide offers a detailed history of the Allied liberation of Nijmegen during Operation Market Garden with maps and photos throughout on September 17th 1944 the 82nd Airborne dropped Allied parachute infantry along the Waal River in the Netherlands city of Nijmegen their goal was to seize the city's two major bridges and reinforce the British troops in nearby Arnhem though the Allied forces faced a desperate struggle they ultimately secured both bridges and liberated the city this comprehensive guide offers detailed information on all of the units personalities and actions of this heroic episode in the Allies' failed Operation Market Garden fully illustrated with maps and photographs this volume covers all the monuments and major battle sites as well as contemporary local facilities

Karl Zinsmeister's Boots on the Ground includes 32 color photographs taken by the author during the month he was embedded with the 82nd in Kuwait and Iraq this is a riveting account of the war in Iraq moving north with the 82nd Airborne units of the 82nd depart Kuwait and convoy to Iraq's Tallil Air Base en route to night and day battles within the major city of Samawah and its intact bridges across the Euphrates Boots on the Ground quickly becomes an action-filled microcosm of the new kinds of ultramodern war fighting showcased in the overall battle for Iraq at the same time it remains specific to the daily travails of the soldiers Karl Zinsmeister a frontline reporter who traveled with the 82nd vividly conveys the careful planning and technical wizardry that go into today's warfare even local firefights and he brings to life the constant air-ground interactions that are the great innovation of modern precision combat what exactly does it feel like to travel with a spirited body of fighting men to come under fire to cope with the battlefield stresses of sleep deprivation and a steady diet of field rations for weeks on end readers of this day to day diary are left with not only a flashing sequence of strong mental images but also a notion of the sounds and smells and physical sensations that make modern military action unforgettable ultimately boots on the ground is a human story a moving portrayal of the powerful bonds of affection trust fear and dedication that bind real soldiers involved in battle there are unexpected elements the humor that bubbles up amidst dangerous fighting the pathos of a badly wounded young boy the affection openly exhibited by many american soldiers love of country love of family and hometown love of each other this is a true life tale of superbly trained men in extraordinary circumstances packed with concrete detail often surpassing fiction for sheer drama

it was the closest we ever came to unleashing the third world war the image of that world was so horrible to contemplate that both sides stepped away from that precipice and opted for peace fires of october is the exhilarating military history of the cuban missile crisis exploring in detail the strategic plans implemented by american armed forces as they headed towards a catastrophic nuclear collision with cuba and the ussr using recently declassified material blaine pardoe systematically recounts the origins of the crisis from the berlin crisis of 1961 and cuba s military metamorphosis to the internal disorganization of the us military which exacerbated tensions between the usa cuba and the ussr pardoe reveals that the invasion plans were based on old intelligence outdated maps and misconceptions about the size strength and composition of the soviet forces in cuba for the first time and with harrowing results he scrutinizes the potential fallout had the invasion gone ahead gripping and unnerving fires of october shows us just how close the world came to nuclear war in green light martin wolfe gives us the big picture of world war ii airborne warfare in europe through the lens of one unit a squadron typical of some sixty others troop carrier squadrons delivered paratroopers behind enemy lines tugged gliders into battle zones and between combat operations freighted up to the front everything from food to artillery shells and carried back wounded infantrymen and newly freed slave laborers wolfe s firsthand account is an engaging and informative narrative that goes beyond the facts to investigate the feelings of the tightly knit unit he also describes the management and training techniques that prepared the squadron for its role in four of the five main invasions of nazi europe in all the literature about world war ii this is the first account to show how all levels of a squadron functioned clerks as well as pilots maintenance mechanics as well as flying crew chiefs the mess hall as well as headquarters in addition wolfe s is the first book to show the interplay between unit experience and high command theory what units like the 81st troop carrier squadron could actually accomplish and how concepts of airborne warfare changed at supreme headquarters he explains why and how it was not until the last airborne invasion in march 1945 that the full potential of the troop carrier was reached wolfe melds the recollections of ninety veterans of this squadron with a general history of allied airborne forces in world war ii through their words green light paints vivid portraits of the real men of the war not the rambos or sad sacks of popular culture and through the retelling of their experiences the book shows that the truism war is hell does not hold for all soldiers all the time in world war ii the 81st troop carrier squadron dropped paratroopers onto the battlefield often in the face of heavy fire this book relates the exploits of the 81st which mirrored the combat experience of world war ii troop carrier units the final instalment in osprey s trilogy on operation market garden this is a fascinating account of the british xxx corps assault towards the rhine at arnhem field marshal montgomery s plan to get second british army behind the fortifications of the german siegfried line in 1944 led to the hugely ambitious operation market garden part of this plan called for a rapid advance from belgium through holland up to and across the lower rhine by the british xxx corps along a single road already dominated by airborne troops their objective along this road was the bridge at arnhem the target of british and polish airborne troops once xxx corps had reached this bridge it would then make for the german industrial area of the ruhr the operation was bold in outlook but risky in concept using specially commissioned artwork and detailed analysis ken ford completes this trilogy on operation market garden by examining this attack which if successful could have shortened the war in the west considerably yet it turned out to be a bridge too far by the late summer of 1944 the allied drive in western europe was in danger of stalling as lines of communication became ever more extended a back door into the heart of germany had to be found in september 1944 that back door led through holland montgomery s plan for operation market garden was bold innovative and simple the british xxx corps would drive 60 miles in two days crossing river obstacles over bridges captured intact by airborne troops dropped earlier the british would take the last bridge over the rhine at arnhem but the rest would be the responsibility of the americans brigadier general james slim jim gavin s 82nd airborne had the job of taking and holding three bridges including the road bridge over the waal at nijmegen all went well until nijmegen when the advance ground to a halt as the germans holding the southern approach refused to give ground the entire operation was now at risk gavin s solution was as audacious as it was dangerous a crossing of the waal in open boats when they arrived to outflank the germans that crossing under murderous fire witnessed remarkable feats of individual courage and endurance as the americans battled to prise open the road to arnhem trying to keep market garden alive an epic tale of a brotherhood forged by war masterfully told by a lifelong journalist war correspondent and u s army veteran a must read by military historians who follow the 82nd airborne division it is a compilation of fascinating stories by brave soldiers who found themselves in the crucible of fierce combat ltg retired james h johnson 82nd airborne division commander panama and desert storm this book is the best i have ever read about the real situation experienced by infantrymen in the vietnam war the stories honor the american soldier and their families and demonstrate the pride all of us had in these men and their leaders a grand slam hit out of the park robert d murrill esq distinguished member of the 508th parachute infantry regiment in the golden brigade it is a story that needs to be told and one that all paratroopers young and old need to know when the nation calls there were and must always be those who will answer even if it means they sacrifice their todays so that others will experience their tomorrows j thomas hennessey jr colonel retired distinguished member of the 505th parachute infantry regiment chief of staff emeritus at george mason university a solid chunk of history about an extraordinary brotherhood of warriors vietnam veterans of america
