whom do i tell when i tell a blank page virginia woolf s question is one that generations of readers and writers searching to map a creative life have asked of their own diaries no other document quite compares with the intimacies and yearnings the confessions and desires revealed in the pages of a diary presenting seven portraits of literary and creative lives alexandra johnson illuminates the secret world of writers and their diaries and shows how over generations these writers have used the diary to solve a common set of creative and life questions in sonya tolstoy s diary we witness the conflict between love and vocation in katherine mansfield and virginia woolf s friendship the nettle of rivalry among writing equals is revealed and in alice james s diary begun at age forty the feelings of competition within a creative family are explored the hidden writer shows how the diaries of marjory fleeming sonya tolstoy alice james katherine mansfield virginia woolf anaïs nin and may sarton negotiated the obstacle course of silence ambition envy and fame destined to become a classic on writing and the diary as literary form this is an essential book for anyone interested in the evolution of creative life the diary is a genre that is often thought of as virtually formless a capacious hold all for the writerâ€™s thoughts and as offering unmediated access to the diaristâ€™s true self focusing on the diaries of katherine mansfield virginia woolf antonia white joe orton john cheever and sylvia plath this book looks at how six very different professional writers have approached the diary form with its particular demands and literary potential as a sequence of separate entries the diary is made up of both gaps and continuities and the different ways diarists negotiate these aspects of the diary form has radical effects on how their diaries represent both the world and the biographical self the different published editions of the diaries by katherine mansfield virginia woolf and sylvia plath show how editorial decisions can construct sometimes startlingly different biographical portraits yet all diaries are constructed and all diary constructions depend on how the writer works with the diary form kafka s diaries are a mixture of detailing personal mental and health struggles his opinions on plays and other art he encountered the brutality of his work and writing schedule his disdain for marriage and social functions and his thoughts on philosophical subjects kafka reflects on attending lectures such as those by paul wiegler on hebbel and theatrical readings by bernhard kellermann these moments capture kafka s intellectual engagement with german literature and contemporary cultural dialogues his entries also contain evocative critiques including his thoughts on goethe s diaries and philosophical musings tied to zeno s paradoxes kafka often juxtaposes these insights with raw introspective disclosures of his writing challenges and bouts of existential uncertainty oftentimes meandering and stream of consciousness these diaries are narrative in style often philosophic and sometimes mundane kafka notes many of his dreams here which are sometimes surreal and usually disturbing themes of isolation artistic identity and the tension between self perception and societal roles permeate the diary kafka s descriptions of his writing process convey an almost sisyphian struggle for expression and authenticity his entries offer a glimpse into his fluctuating moods from moments of fleeting euphoria to profound self doubt the diary also captures the urban milieu of prague and kafka s deep sensitivity to its people sounds and atmosphere painting a vivid if often somber portrait of his inner and outer worlds kafka records encounters with figures like the dancer eduardowa whom he describes both in public performance and in mundane settings emphasizing the tension between public image and private reality themes of existential despair and creative frustration recur with kafka contemplating his inability to reconcile his office work and literary ambitions this new modern translation from the original german is a fresh accessible and beautifully rendered text that brings to life kafka s great literary work this edition contains extra amplifying material including an illuminating afterword a timeline of kafka s life and works alongside of the historical events which shaped his art and a short biography to place this work in its socio historical context the diary as a genre is found in all literate societies and these autobiographical accounts are written by persons of all ranks and positions the diary offers an exploration of the form in its social historical and cultural literary contexts with its own distinctive features poetics and rhetoric the contributors to this volume examine theories and interpretations relating to writing and studying diaries the formation of diary canons in the united kingdom france united states and brazil and the ways in which handwritten diaries are transformed through processes of publication and digitization the authors also explore different diary formats including the travel diary the private diary conflict diaries written during periods of crisis and the diaries of the digital era such as blogs the diary offers a comprehensive overview of the genre synthesizing decades of interdisciplinary study to enrich our understanding of research about and engagement with the diary as literary form and historical documentation winner of the aatseel outstanding translation award this is the first paperback edition of the complete collection of writings that has been called dostoevsky s boldest experiment with literary form it is a uniquely encyclopedic forum of fictional and nonfictional genres the diary s radical format was matched by the extreme range of its contents in a single frame it incorporated an astonishing variety of material short stories humorous sketches reports on sensational crimes historical predictions portraits of famous people autobiographical pieces and plans for stories some of which were never written while others appeared in the diary itself
