christoph w stenschke examines luke s portrait of the gentiles state prior to their coming to christian faith following the history of research he commences with luke s direct references to the gentiles prior to faith and then draws conclusions concerning their state from the gentile encounter with jesus and christian salvation this includes luke s notes on the condition of gentiles and on their appropriation of salvation finally conclusions from luke s portrayal of gentile christians are drawn with his approach christoph w stenschke challenges some previous contributions to lukan anthropology he argues that the main study in the field j w taeger der mensch und sein heil does not sufficiently consider all the evidence by concentrating on the gentiles in luke act including samaritans and god fearers the author s thesis covers all the relevant material contrary to taeger who suggests that gentiles do not need salvation as much as correction he discovers that luke portrays gentiles prior to faith in a condition requiring god s saving intervention thorough correction has to accompany and follow this salvation though allowing for distinct lukan emphases this portrait is not essentially at odds with that of other nt authors these results further show that the areopagus speech needs to and can be satisfactorily interpreted in its context and in conjunction with similar statements the author further argues that luke s narrative sections and the characterization they present should no longer be neglected in favour of the speeches luke s portrayal of gentiles prior to faith also bears on his understanding of sin and provides additional justification for the gentile mission christoph w stenschke challenges proposals of luke s alleged anti judaism and provides some hitherto little noticed correctives
