the long awaited first english translation from ancient hebrew of the rare and complete 1701 amsterdam edition of this famous magical text according to hebrew legend the sepher rezial was given to adam in the garden of eden by the hand of god the myth suggests that this diverse compendium of ancient hebrew lore was the first book ever written includes an explanatory text on the holy names of god the divisions of heaven and hell and the names and hierarchy of the angels and spirits intellectual history and the identity of john dee in april 1995 at birkbeck college university of london an interdisciplinary colloquium was held so that scholars from diverse fields and areas of expertise could 1 exchange views on the life and work of john dee working in a variety of fields intellectual history history of navigation history of medicine history of science history of mathematics bibliography and manuscript studies we had all been drawn to dee by particular aspects of his work and participating in the colloquium was to confront other narratives about dee's career an experience which was both bewildering and instructive perhaps more than any other intellectual figure of the english renaissance dee has been fragmented and dispersed across numerous disciplines and the various attempts to reintegrate his multiplied image by reference to a particular world view or philosophical outlook have failed to bring him into focus this volume records the diversity of scholarly approaches to John Dee which have emerged since the synthetic accounts of I. R. F. Calder, Frances Yates and Peter French. If these approaches have not succeeded in resolving the problematic multiplicity of Dee's activities they will at least deepen our understanding of specific and local areas of his intellectual life and render them more historiographically legible.

Sefer Raziel Hemelach is the long-awaited first English translation of this famous magical text, a translation from the ancient Hebrew in the rare and complete 1701 Amsterdam edition. According to Hebrew legend, the Sefer Raziel was presented to Adam in the Garden of Eden given by the hand of God and delivered by the angel Raziel. The myth thus suggests that this is the first book ever written and of direct divine provenance, a diverse compendium of ancient Hebrew magical lore. This book was quite possibly the original source for later traditional literature on angelic hierarchy, astrology, qabalah and gematria. Moses Gaster mentions this in his introduction to The Sword of Moses (1896) suggesting that the Sefer Raziel could be a primary source for many magic and qabalistic books of the Middle Ages. Sefer Raziel Hemelach is a compilation of five books: the book of the vestment, the book of the great Raziel, the holy names, the book of the mysteries and the book of the signs of the zodiac. It includes extensive explanatory text on the holy names of God, the divisions of heaven and hell, the names and hierarchy of the angels and spirits as well as symbolic interpretations of both the book of Genesis and Sefer Yetzirah. It also includes material on astronomy, astrology, gematria and various magical talismans, most notably those used for protection during childbirth. In his introduction, Steve Savedow details the history, bibliographical citations and lineage of this famous work. He lists the old and rare manuscripts still in existence and provides a bibliography of other reference works for study of the Western esoteric tradition.

C. G. Jung's The Red Book: Liber Novus, published posthumously in 2009, explores Jung's own journey from an inner state of alienation and depression to the restoration of his soul, as well as offering a prophetic narrative of the collective human psyche as it journeys from unconsciousness to a greater awareness of its own inner dichotomy of good and evil. Jung utilised astrological symbols throughout to help him comprehend the personal as well as universal meanings of his visions in the astrological world of Jung's Liber Novus. Liz Greene explores the planetary journey Jung portrayed in this remarkable work and investigates the ways in which he used astrological images and themes as an interpretive lens to help him understand the nature of his visions and the deeper psychological meaning behind them. Greene's analysis includes a number of mythic and archetypal elements including the stories of Salome, Siegfried, and Elijah, and demonstrates that astrology as Jung understood and worked with it is unquestionably one of the most important foundation stones of analytical psychology and an essential part of understanding his legacy. This unique study will appeal to analytical psychologists and Jungian psychotherapists, students and academics of Jungian and post-Jungian theory, the history of psychology, archetypal thought, mythology, and folklore, the history of New Age movements, esotericism, and psychological astrology.

Sefer Raziel also called Liber Salomonis is not the same as the Hebrew Sefer Raziel Ha Melakh. It is a full grimoire in the Solomonic tradition from a 16th-century English manuscript derived from Latin sources. As such, it is one of the earliest English grimoires published. It begins with directions for making the equipment: parchment, pen, and ink. Of art, it contains seven separate treatises: 1. Liber Clavis, which is concerned with astrology and its correct use in magic; 2. Ala, outlines the magical virtues of stones, herbs, beasts, and words; 3. Tractatus Thymiamatus, explains why incense is essential to magical operations and the effect of various incenses on the spirits; 4. Treatise of Times, gives details of the correct hours of the day and night for each operation with associated angels; 5. Treatise on Purity, explains the exact preparations and the reasons for ritual purity; 6. Samaim, is a treatise on the seven heavens with the names of their angels; 7. The Book of Virtues and Miracles, is a treatise on the names of God and how they are to be used in invocation to produce miraculous results.
