in 1998 sarbjit athwal was called by her husband to attend a family meeting it looked like just another family gathering an attractive house in west london a large dining room two brothers their mother one wife but the subject they were discussing was anything but ordinary at the head of the group sat the elderly mother she stared proudly around smiling at her children then raised her hand for silence it s decided then the old lady announced we have to get rid of her her was surjit athwal sarbjit s sister in law within three weeks of that meeting surjit was dead lured from london to india drugged strangled and her body dumped in the ravi river never to be seen again after the killing risking her own life sarbjit fought secretly for justice for nine long scared years eventually with immense bravery she became the first person within a murderer s family ever to go into open court in an honour killing trial as the prosecution s key witness and the first to waive her anonymity in such a trial as a result of her testimony the trial led to the first successful prosecution of an honour killing without the body ever being found but her story doesn t end there since the trial her life has been threatened her own husband arrested after an allegation of intimidation shamed is a story of fear and of horror but also of immense courage and a woman who risked everything to see that justice was done arranged marriage shows how arranged marriage practices have been undergoing transformation how the gendered and intergenerational politics of agency consent and choice work in the contexts of partner choice and management of marriage and how this type of marriage can be reshaped reinvented and reinterpreted flexibly in response to individual family religious class ethnic and other desires needs and constraints this book explores the contemporary phenomenon of forced marriage and honour killings in Britain set against a background of increasing honour based violence within the country's South Asian and Muslim diasporas the book traces the development of the honour question over the past two decades it accordingly witnesses unprecedented changes in public awareness and government policy including ground breaking honour specific legislation and the criminalisation of forced marriage all of which makes Britain an important context for the study of this now indigenous and self-perpetuating social problem in considering the scale of the challenge and its underlying causes attention is paid to the intersections of gendered power structures that disadvantage female members of honour cultures as well as feminist theories that seek to explain them the book features five key case studies of honour killings and draws from a wide range of narratives including those of honour violence survivors grassroots service providers and legislators such a myriad of perspectives reveals the complexity of the honour issue and the deep ideological divisions that characterise it with the UK's multiculturalist discourse unable to reconcile protecting patriarchal minority cultures with safeguarding gender equality and human rights the book raises fundamental questions about the country's future direction following a long trend of state sponsored integrationist policies the government's response to the honour question points decisively in the direction of a post multicultural British nation this book explores the largely neglected relationship between men masculinities and honour based abuse hba there is a common misconception that hba whether physical violence emotional abuse or so called honour killings occurs only against women this book addresses the gap in the current literature concerning the relationship between men masculinities and hba with contributions from an international and interdisciplinary range of both academics and professionals the book examines hba and forced marriages specifically from male victim perspectives both in the UK and internationally providing a clear understanding of the main theoretical and sociological explanations of hba against male victims the book demonstrates that although men are indeed the main perpetrators of hba state agencies must address the fact that many men are also victims this book is essential reading for students academics and practitioners alike
