appealing to monster theory and the ancient near eastern motif of chaoskampf safwat marzouk argues that the paradoxical character of the category of the monster is what prompts the portrayal of egypt as a monster in the book of ezekiel while on the surface the monster seems to embody utter difference underlying its otherness there is a disturbing sameness though the monster may be defeated and its body dismembered it is never completely annihilated egypt is portrayed as a monster in the book of ezekiel because egypt represents the threat of religious assimilation although initially the monstrosity of egypt is constructed because of the shared elements of identity between egypt and israel the prophet flips this imagery of monster in order to embody egypt as a monstrous other in a combat myth yhwh defeats the monster and dismembers its body despite its near annihilation egypt in ezekiel s rhetoric is not entirely obliterated rather it is kept at bay hovering at the periphery questioning israel s identity

the tale of the combat between the storm god and the sea that began circulating in the early second millennium bce was one of the most well known ancient near eastern myths its widespread dissemination in distinct versions across disparate locations and time periods syria egypt anatolia ugarit mesopotamia and israel calls for analysis of all the textual variants in order to determine its earliest form geo cultural origin and transmission history in undertaking this task noga ayali darshan examines works such as the astarte papyrus the pisaisa myth the songs of hedammu and ullikummi the baal cycle enuma elis and pertinent biblical texts she interprets these and other related writings philologically according to their provenance and comparatively in the light of parallel texts the examination of this story appearing in all the ancient near eastern cultures also calls for a discussion of the theology literature and history of these societies and the way they shaped the local versions of the myth
