the question of what medieval courtliness was both as a literary influence and as a historical reality is debated in this volume the concept of courtliness forms the theme of this collection of essays focused on works written in the francophone world between the twelfth and fifteenth centuries they examine courtliness as both an historical privilege and aliterary ideal and as a concept that operated on and was informed by complex social and economic realities several essays reveal how courtliness is subject to satire or is the subject of exhortation in works intended for noblemen and women not to mention ambitious bourgeois others more strictly literary in their focus explore the witty thoughtful and innovative responses of writers engaged in the conscious process of elevating the new vernacular culture through the articulation of its complexities and contradictions the volume as a whole uniting philosophical theoretical philological and cultural approaches demonstrates that medieval courtliness is an ideal that fascinates us to this day it is thus a fitting tribute to the scholarship of matilda tomarny bruckner in its exploration of the prrofound and wide ranging ideas that define her contribution to the field daniel e o sullivan is associate professor of french at the university of mississippi laurie shephard is associate professor of italian at boston college in chestnut hill massachusetts contributors peter haidu donald maddox michel andré bossy kristin burr joan tasker grimbert david hult virgine greene logan whalen evelyn birge vitz elizabeth w poe daniel e o sullivan william schenck nadia margolis laine doggett e jane burns nancy freemanregalado laurie shephard sarah white a multi authored study of the emergence and transmission of fictional writing in europe in the seventeenth century with the aim of improving understanding of the origins of the novel what and when is british romanticism if seen not in island isolation but cosmopolitan integration with european romantic literature history and culture the essays here range from poetry and the novel to science writing philosophy visual art opera and melodrama from france and germany to italy and bosnia whilst french romances of the twelfth and thirteenth centuries have long enjoyed a privileged place in the literary history of france romances from the later middle ages have been largely neglected by modern scholars despite their central role in the chivalric culture of the day in particular although this genre has been seen as providing a forum within which ideas about masculine and feminine roles were debated and prescribed little work has been done on the gender ideology of texts from the fourteenth and fifteenth centuries this study seeks to fill this gap in the scholarship by analysing how the views of gender found in earlier romances were reassessed and reshaped in the texts produced in the moralising intellectual environment of the later medieval period in order to explore these topics this book discusses fifteen historico realist prose romances written in the century from 1390 many of which were commissioned at the court of burgundy it addresses key issues in recent studies of gender in medieval culture including the construction of chivalric masculinity the representation of adolescent desire and the social and sexual roles of husbands and wives in addition to offering close readings of these texts it shows how the romances of the period were informed by ideas about gender which circulated in contemporary works such as manuals of chivalry moral treatises and marriage sermons it thus aims not only to provide the first in depth study of this little known area of french literary history but also to question the critical consensus on the role of gender in medieval romance that has arisen from an exclusive focus on earlier works in the genre
