this was one of the most pioneering works in the field of gender and social sciences in the african context and remains an authoritative text it is an extensively researched and forcefully argued study offering a critique and directions for gendering the social sciences in africa the sixteen chapters cover methodological and epistemological questions and substantive issues in the various social science disciplines ranging from economics politics and history to sociology and anthropology thirteen scholars contribute including the three distinguished women editors the translation which is edited from the english and newly introduced by the renowned feminist scholar fatou sow is an achievement itself an incursion into the notorious difficulties of translating what are notably anglo saxon concepts of sex and gender into the french language and distinctive academic environment of interpreting western concepts of feminism within the african environment as well as being an opportunity to revisit what deserves to become a classic text and reach a wider audience this work was conceived as a sequel to the african writers handbook african books collective 1999 it is built on the debates emanating from a seminar on scholarly publishing in africa held in arusha tanzania in 2002 organised by the dag hammarskjöld foundation the african books collective and the international network for the availability of scientific publications inasp the seminar brought together scholars and publishers against a background of evidence of a revival of interest in higher education and scholarship in africa after a long period of decline and the new departures in scholarly publishing afforded by technology this resulting collection of essays takes stock of the status of scholarly and academic publishing on the continent in the early years of the twenty first century tracing the trajectory of postcolonial politics makau mutua maps the political forces that have shaped contemporary kenya he also critically explores efforts on the part of both civil society and the political opposition to reform the state analyzing the tortuous efforts since independence to create a sustainable democratic state he uses the struggle over constitutional reform as a window for understanding the larger struggles confronting kenyan society when voices canadian writers of african descent was published in 1992 it offered a forum for an immensely talented group of canadian writers such emerging writers as lawrence hill rozena maart george elliot clarke and cecil foster joined company with internationally renowned writers daffy laferriere and austin clarke fiery spirits published two years later presented another gathering of gifted canadian writers of african descent including dionne brand dee september martha kumsa and gerard etienne now married in one seminal volume fiery spirits voices is a rich and vibrant celebration of the colorful quilt that is canadian african literature and an opportunity to explore some of the earlier work of this evolving and vital part of our literary community these are short fiction pieces and poems that often push hard at the literary traditions that sometimes confine them there are works of romantic love and sexual abuse of feminism and racism of belonging and displacement bringing together shared history and a diversity of contemporary experience fiery spirits voices is a powerful and often moving compilation this book provides a forum for intellectual exchange around the connections between nationalism and power in africa with africa viewed as a global presence various chapters explore aspects of the colonial order the nature of change and of agencies within a comparative perspective power and nationalism in modern africa also interrogates african modernity and how it is constructed and articulated in comparison to other modernities the chapters move from localism to globalism and through various ideas and analyses we see modern africa in a nuanced manner a continent that is capable of accepting other cultures and traditions without losing all of its indigenous beliefs and values the book exposes the power of traditions to reshape history creating in different parts of the african diaspora the ideas to redefine lives and spaces and struggles to create a new future africans like others have their own ideas and constructions of modernity and modernism they have as the various contributions to this volume have amply demonstrated staged modernity on their own terms and in the process recast it in their own image human rights and african airwaves focuses on nkhani zam maboma a popular chichewa news bulletin broadcast on malawi s public radio the program often takes authorities to task and questions much of the human rights rhetoric that comes from international organizations highlighting obligation and mutual dependence the program expresses in popular idioms and local narrative forms grievances and injustices that are closest to malawi s impoverished public harri englund reveals broadcasters everyday struggles with state sponsored biases and a listening public with strong views and a critical ear this fresh look at african language media shows how africans effectively confront inequality exploitation and poverty
