this is a romantic post modern poetry book where the style is free and the structure is to focus on the feelings and the nature

this is young palestinian author shada mustafa s debut novel a free flowing narrative that interrogates in short direct sentences the memories of growing up falling in love that keep forcing themselves out to be reckoned with through ceaseless questioning and the seemingly random revisiting of each of the four things she has left behind the narrator redeems her life from the inexplicable pain and tragic anguish that was her childhood in an occupied and divided land and family in so doing mustafa creates a unique writing style while at the same time allowing the narrative its original cathartic function liberating herself from her past and finding her true self why was she always having to cross the qalandia checkpoint to see her dad or her mom why did they divorce why was her mom angry how could she make her happy why was her dad a different man when he came out of the occupier's prison what was more important the cause or the people the questions become more urgent when she becomes a student and falls in love this short novel original in both subject and narrative technique was shortlisted for the 2021 sheikh zayed award for young authors threatened with death for having unwittingly infringed the national custom by constructing a wooden fork for my own use and using it in the presence of my master for this offence i was excluded for some time from the table of the other servants and compelled to eat of the refuse of their meals as i was the youngest and lowest of the servants i was treated with much indignity and severity by them as well as by mustapha himself between the master and the servants my situation was exceedingly irksome of mustapha bey candour however obliges me to say that he seemed not utterly incapable of humane feelings but they were rendered callous by excessive bigotry and that his cruel treatment to me may be perhaps ascribed to his intolerant zeal for his religion rather than to natural malignity of heart i was obliged to stand constantly behind my master in continual readiness to perform any and every menial duty that his necessity or caprice imposed the nly seasons of recreation i enjoyed were at those times when i attended him in his visits or peregrinations about the streets carrying his pipe and a pouch of tobacco chapter ix in this servile and contemptible occupation almost five years of my life were spent the monotony of a period like this it will be readily conceived affords but few incidents that can awaken interest or claim attention every successive day brought a renewal of the same dull task perhaps it is not one of the least miseries of slavery that it binds down the victim soul and body to the same narrow range of action to the same unvaried course of tedious drudgery of the body essay from the year 2017 in the subject history miscellaneous language english abstract the defeat of germany on the side of which the ottoman empire fought in the first world war the military setbacks and discontent in the country and finally the surrender of turkey in october 1918 put an end to the power of the young turks who defended the integrity of the empire the allies annexed all of its external possessions the question arose what post war turkey should be in these difficult days the turkish people led by new leaders whose main goal was the independence of all turkey took over the decision of the issue on the wave of national patriotic upsurge in april 1920 in ankara a new majlis was elected the grand national assembly of turkey the chairman of the assembly was mustafa kemal pasha known as ataturk who proclaimed the new body the only legitimate authority in turkey the problem of the role of kemal ataturk in the recent history of turkey has long attracted the attention of orientalists by its relevance complexity and versatility however it is especially noteworthy that at a critical stage in the development of the turkish state kemal ataturk found the strength courage and talent to re evaluate the role of his country in the world history lead the struggle for national liberation and independent development of turkey thanks to this ataturk eliminated the caliphate was the first among the turks who turn views towards civilizational europe and taking advantage of the fact that the country is fighting for national liberation ended the sharia the sultanate and the caliphate intensified the policy of westernization managed to convince the turks that the secular nature of the state with a careful attitude to the traditions of islam is the guarantee of the country s further well being he is regarded as a person who sought to turn turkey to western culture thanks to him turkey has become the only islamic country that has embarked on the path of democratic development and acceptance of the values of western civilization
