the first in depth analysis of lydia daviss translations and writingthe many voices of lydia davis shows how translation rewriting and intertextuality are central to the work of lydia davis a major american writer translator and essayist winner of the man booker international prize 2013 davis writes innovative short stories that question the boundaries of the genre she is also an important translator of french writers such as maurice blanchot michel leiris marcel proust and gustave flaubert translation and writing go hand in hand in daviss work through a series of readings this study investigates how daviss translations and stories relate to each other finding that they are inextricably interlinked it explores how davis uses translation either as a compositional tool or a plot device and other instances of rewriting in her stories demonstrating that translation is central for understanding her prose understanding how daviss work complicates divisions between translating and other forms of writing highlights the role of translation in literary production key featuresthe first monograph on this key contemporary writer that analyses texts from throughout her careera one of the most famous lines in movie history is i see dead people uttered by a young boy is there any reason to believe that children can see the dead do they have spooky powers denied to adults do they grow out of these powers as they reach puberty do they forget that they once interacted with the dead one study says that by age seven 65 percent of children have had an imaginary friend are these imaginary friends actually spirits do children have the dead as their imaginary playmates they re not imaginary at all they re real but they re dead children are natural mediums psychics and necromancers they can channel the other world is the poltergeist phenomenon caused by children s imaginary friends can imaginary friends operate externally to children's minds are some children in cahoots with spirits there is nothing more fascinating than the psychic abilities of children and the astonishing thing that eventually happens to them which suppresses their paranormal powers in order to allow them to enter the normal world the adult world what would you prefer to remain a child all your life and have paranormal powers or to become an adult and sacrifice your paranormal powers nature has made this a tradeoff do you want to be peter pan who can fly but can never grow up or do you want to join the adults and have adult fun and also adult responsibilities why do children lose their natural powers is it possible to get these powers back can adults recover their lost paranormal abilities the abilities which society warned them as children never to play with it's always dangerous to play with fire it's even more dangerous to ignore your natural fire isn't it time to light up your life
