len gregory is a law school student as part of his elite law school's community outreach programme he finds himself in a local high school several times a week passing on his own legal knowledge to the students in a course he teaches entitled street law this book shows that passing on legal knowledge is not the only thing len is doing in street law he is also trying to get his students to talk and argue about the law in the same way that he does len talks about legal matters using hypothetical speculative scenarios played out by generic people if people occur at all in his scenarios the students meanwhile recount anecdotes inhabited by real people doing things in the real world this book describes how len and the street law students negotiate len s language promotion project scheme that is how the students go along with or resist len s promotion the consequences of this negotiation are high the abstract speculative inquiry style promoted by len carries social value to be able to talk as len does is to be able to talk as powerful members of society talk and len is offering the street law students access to that social capital however this book shows how the street law students identify abstract speculative inquiry as being the talk of the elite white other not in other words a way of talk that by and large utters their social identity the book examines this negotiation and tension between learning economically powerful ways of talking in the larger social marketplace and maintaining an authentic local social identity
