in this major paradigm shifting work kojim karatani systematically re reads marx s version of world history shifting the focus of critique from modes of production to modes of exchange karatani seeks to understand both capital nation state the interlocking system that is the dominant form of modern global society and the possibilities for superseding it in the structure of world history he traces different modes of exchange including the pooling of resources that characterizes nomadic tribes the gift exchange systems developed after the adoption of fixed settlement agriculture the exchange of obedience for protection that arises with the emergence of the state the commodity exchanges that characterize capitalism and finally a future mode of exchange based on the return of gift exchange albeit modified for the contemporary moment he argues that this final stage marking the overcoming of capital nation and state is best understood in light of kant s writings on eternal peace the structure of world history is in many ways the capstone of karatani s brilliant career yet it also signals new directions in his thought despite the fact that the name of many characters mentioned in the old testament like david king of israel have been recently confirmed by archaeology as well as their epoch and the events in which they were involved most archaeologists continue to deny the historicity of the bible they view as pious fiction or a mythical account they argue that the major events in the bible such as the victory of abraham against chedorlaomer an unknown king of elam around 2000 bce the victory of moses against an unknown pharaoh around 1500 bce or the victory of esther an unknown persian queen against an unknown vizier of xerxes never existed because they left absolutely no evidence they also explain that according to what we know today these events could not have occurred these logical arguments are impressive but a precise chronological analysis based on absolute dates coupled with a rigorous historical investigation shows that all those major events really took place at the dates and places indicated
