why do some men women and even children assault batter rape mutilate and murder in his stunning new book the pulitzer prize winner richard rhodes provides a startling and persuasive answer why they killexplores the discoveries of a maverick american criminologist dr lonnie athens himself the child of a violent family which challenge conventional theories about violent behavior by interviewing violent criminals in prison dr athens has identified a pattern of social development common to all seriously violent people a four stage process he calls violentization first brutalization a young person is forced by violence or the threat of violence to submit to an aggressive authority figure he witnesses the violent subjugation of intimates and the authority figure coaches him to use violence to settle disputes second belligerency the dispirited subject determined to prevent his further violent subjugation heeds his coach and resolves to resort to violence third violent performances his violent response to provocation succeeds and he reads respect and fear in the eyes of others fourth virulency exultant he determines from now on to utilize serious violence as a means of dealing with people and he bonds with others who believe as he does since all four stages must be fully experienced in sequence and completed to produce a violent individual we see how intervening to interrupt the process can prevent a tragic outcome rhodes supports athens s theory with historical evidence and shows how it explains such violent careers as those of perry smith the killer central to truman capote s narrative in cold blood mike tyson preppy rapist alex kelly and lee harvey oswald why they kill challenges with devastating evidence the theory that violent behavior is impulsive unconsciously motivated and predetermined it offers compelling insights into the terrible ongoing dilemma of criminal violence that plagues families neighborhoods cities and schools
