adult supervision required considers the contradictory ways in which contemporary american culture has imagined individual autonomy for parents and children in many ways today s parents and children have more freedom than ever before there is widespread respect for children s autonomy as distinct individuals and a broad range of parenting styles are flourishing yet it may also be fair to say that there is an unprecedented fear of children s and parents freedom dread about amber alerts and stranger danger have put an end to the unsupervised outdoor play enjoyed by earlier generations of suburban kids similarly fear of bad parenting has not only given rise to a cottage industry of advice books for anxious parents but has also granted state agencies greater power to police the family using popular parenting advice literature as a springboard for a broader sociological analysis of the american family markella b rutherford explores how our increasingly psychological conception of the family might be jeopardizing our appreciation for parents and children s public lives and civil liberties during the past five years homeschooling rates have been on the rise and show no signs of slowing but many parents lack confidence questioning whether they are doing it right or whether they should take the plunge at all with so many voices offering conflicting advice it's hard to know where to start and where to go from there a homeschooling mother of five and founder of 1000 hours outside ginny yurich draws from her years of experience and research as well as her master's degree in education from the university of michigan to encourage and equip parents who want to give homeschooling a try or want to improve their experience starting from the standpoint of you're doing it right instead of you're doing it wrong ginny helps parents understand that just by choosing to homeschool they are learning through living allowing for individual timelines leaving space for boredom providing multiage experiences teaching self reliance offering freedom slowing down and more if you've been on the fence about homeschooling or wondering if you're doing it all wrong let ginny encourage you in all you've already accomplished and equip you for even greater things ahead
