writes richard terrill the name fakebook derives from recognition that a jazz musician who is improvising over a set of chord changes is faking making up his or her own melody the fakebook then is a place to start the structure upon which music is completed for this fakebook with its improvisations that pay homage to various greats like stan getz dexter gordon and john coltrane and with its exploration of how jazz works jazz is the place to start in coming to terms with one's limits in music and in life after pursuing music as a young man backing up celebrity performers at dances and county fairs traveling with a rhythm and blues outfit playing low paying jazz gigs in bars and lounges terrill concluded he'd never make it as a full time professional saxophonist he became a published writer of memoir poetry and essays followed a career as a teacher of writing and for ten years never touched the horn but then he took up playing again almost as a whim at first a self dare and soon rediscovered on weekend gigs the challenges the despair and exhilaration that jazz had always promised him all of this he expresses in prose that glows with feeling and self perception and makes this book a work of literary consequence and true inspiration
