this study continues the adaptation of the method of case frame analysis for the investigation of the greek text of the new testament case frame analysis distinguishes the words of a language into two categories predicators words that require completion by other words for their correct grammatical use and non predicators words that do not require such completion and provides rigorous procedures for describing the syntactic semantic and lexical requirements that predicators impose on the words that complete their meaning the inclusion of semantic function and feature descriptions in case frame analysis permits the development of a new genre of lexicon that specifies not only syntactic and lexical information as do traditional dictionaries but detailed semantic information the resulting case frame lexicon entries are both more compact and more nuanced than traditional lexicon entries danove conducts an exhaustive case frame analysis of the ditransitive verbs of transference in the new testament he uses this analysis to develop a set of descriptive guidelines for interpreting and translating the various usages of ditransitive verbs of transference
