the book is divided into three parts the mind in every day living the mind and the dream world and the mind after death due to the immateriality of mind or consciousness and the unknown mechanism thereof the terms such as consciousness mind thought emotion and the like are not clearly defined even in the twenty first century choi writes to discover the mechanism and to define the terms clearly are my concerns in this book he adds that one of his objectives is to prove continuity of consciousness after death the first five consciousnesses are our sense consciousnesses choi explains while the sixth consciousness called the mano vijana is generated by the sixth organ referred to as the organ of mind or root of mind what exactly that is choi continues we do not know however it is crystal clear that the sixth organ is not the brain it must be a nonphysical and immaterialistic organ that is capable of reading something choi goes on to explain the seventh consciousness called manas unlike the first six consciousnesses this one does not have an organ it involves thinking cogitation and intellection the first six consciousnesses perceive and discriminate their corresponding objects and trigger to think so as to give rise to the seventh consciousness manas which is accumulated in the eighth consciousness alaya as seeds of mind cittas choi continues adding that all mental activities are stored in alaya synthesizing thirty years of research psychologist and science historian michael shermer upends the traditional thinking about how humans form beliefs about the world simply put beliefs come first and explanations for beliefs follow the brain shermer argues is a belief engine using sensory data that flow in through the senses the brain naturally looks for and finds patterns and then infuses those patterns with meaning forming beliefs once beliefs are formed our brains subconsciously seek out confirmatory evidence in support of those beliefs which accelerates the process of reinforcing them and round and round the process goes in a positive feedback loop in the believing brain sherner provides countless real world examples of how this process operates from politics economics and religion to conspiracy theories the supernatural and the paranormal ultimately he demonstrates why science is the best tool ever devised to determine whether or not our belief matches reality
