would our world be a better place if some of us were benders can katara repair the world through care is toph a disability pride icon what does it mean for zuko to be bad at being good can we tell whether uncle iroh is a fool or a sage the world is out of sorts the four nations water earth fire and air are imbalanced because of the unrelenting conquest of the fire nation the only one who can restore balance to the world is the avatar on the face of it avatar the last airbender is a story about a lone superhero however saving the world is a team effort embodied in team avatar aka the gaang aang needs help from his friends and tutors even from non human animals through the teachings of guru pathik and huu he comes to realize that though the world and its nations seem separate we are all one people we all have the same roots and we are all branches of the same tree avatar the last airbender and philosophy brings to the fore the eastern western and indigenous philosophies that are implicit in the show following uncle iroh's advice that it is important to draw wisdom from many traditions this volume features contributions by experts on buddhist daoist confucian and indigenous schools of thought next to focusing on western classical authors such as plotinus kant and merleau ponty the volume is also unique in drawing on less common traditions such as black abolitionism anarchism and the philosophy of martial arts intertwining experience and reflection atla and philosophy helps readers to deeply engage with today's burning questions such as how to deal with ecological destruction the aftermath of colonialism and genocide and wealth inequality using the tools from a wide range of philosophical traditions this book returns to the question at the center of our existence a question that the narcissistic culture in which we are immersed systematically tends to remove why the underlying thesis is that the answer must not be sought in success or social recognition but in a fragment of truth hidden somewhere inside each of us which reveals itself only if we detach ourselves from our ego and its certainties it is not therefore a matter of finding yet another philosophical theory of the meaning of existence but rather of shedding light on the conditions under which such meaning can emerge the author shows us that the ultimate source of our existential orientation lies in the affective sphere and that the current crisis of orientation is derived from the atrophy of the process of affective maturation on a large scale and from a lack of knowledge and experience about which techniques are best to reactivate it we are like glowworms that had once unlearned how to illuminate and have since begun to hover around the magic lantern of the ascetic ideal already criticized by nietzsche and then around neon advertising signs we are glowworms that have forgotten that we have within our own affective structure a precious source of orientation the basic thesis is that this source of orientation can be reactivated through the care of desire and practices of emotional sharing integrated history and philosophy of science ihps is commonly understood as the study of science from a combined historical and philosophical perspective yet since its gradual formation as a research field the question of how to suitably integrate both perspectives remains open this volume presents cutting edge research from junior ihps scholars and in doing so provides a snapshot of current developments within the field explores the connection between ihps and other academic disciplines and demonstrates some of the topics that are attracting the attention of scholars who will help define the future of ihps
