thinking spirals triggered by threat is a workbook designed to help readers break free from the exhausting cycles of overthinking and rumination alex d anderson explores the architecture of a spin explaining how the brain s narrative factory churns out catastrophic stories in response to perceived threats the book delves into the role of interoception the lost sense and the freeze response in fueling these mental loops it introduces practical concepts like meeting the committee to identify conflicting internal voices and offers tools to disconnect the silent alarm of anxiety guiding readers from a state of mental chaos to one of trust and resilience your head feels like a radio between stations lots of crackle not much signal tame the static gives you a straightforward daily plan to cut the interference and dial in clarity in short doable
