excerpt from the butterfly man the dinner was being given by mrs cortlandt trend that in itself was sufficient proof of its smartness if not entirely establishing its excellence along another line mrs trend was parsimonious she had had the bad luck to be born in severe poverty the silver dollar of her childhood days was a very portentous thing she never quite got over the feeling that it was a portentous thing but despite the fact that she pinched here and there and looked to it that there was no unnecessary waste her affairs were very smart mr trend was very rich and their home was in truth a mansion it is of small consequence that mr trend went to bed early he was never missed he went to bed early because he had to get up early his presence at one of her functions would have caused no little surprise and speculation among her guests surprise to those who knew him personally or by sight and speculation among those who did not about the publisher forgotten books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books find more at forgottenbooks com this book is a reproduction of an important historical work forgotten books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy in rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition we do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works can a dying man maintain his deception when his mind begins to fail him the award winning novel from the bestselling author of bruni winner of the 2006 davitt award for best crime novel on 7 november 1974 a young english nanny named sandra rivett was killed in london s west end her employer lord lucan was accused of her murder it was widely assumed he had mistaken her for his wife lord lucan disappeared the night sandra rivett died and has never been seen since henry kennedy lives on a mountain on the other side of the world he is not who he says he is he a murderer or a man who can never clear his name and is he the only one with something to hide set in tasmania africa and london s belgravia the butterfly man is a novel about transformation and deception and the lengths to which we will go to protect the ones we love the success of this exquisitely crafted novel is that it is difficult to remind oneself that it is a work of imagination the west australian rose s lyrical melding is masterful intriguing as the real life events of the lucan story are rose transforms it into something far more substantial the weekend australian despite the brutal murder that lies at the heart of this impressive novel the tone of the butterfly man is strangely gentle almost meditative the courier mail this is a moving novel about a man s struggle to say goodbye to those who have come to love him for the lies he has told the canberra times a story about a man losing a loved one and different perspectives on the event gobolinks or shadow pictures for young and old stands as a testament to the imaginative and diverse landscape of late 19th and early 20th century literature exploring the whimsical intersection of visual art and poetic storytelling this collection showcases an eclectic mix of what can only be described as inkblot narratives where each piece unique in its form and interpretation encourages a blend of creativity and literary critique among its readers remarkably it transcends conventional boundaries offering not just entertainment but also a profound exploration into the interpretative freedom of both authors and audience alike the contributing authors ruth mcenery stuart and albert bigelow paine bring forth an unparalleled depth to this collection through their rich backgrounds in american literature and storytelling from google books
