this study explores the relationship between the individual person the self the divine and other people in the writings of the apostle paul and the roman stoic epictetus it does so by examining self involving actions expressed with reflexive pronouns myself yourself etc in various kinds of sentences for example examine yourself and you do not belong to yourself after situating the topic within the fields of linguistics and ancient greek the study then examines the reflexive constructions in epictetus s discourses showing that reflexive texts express fundamental aspects of his ethic of rational self interest in imitation of the indwelling rational deity next the investigation examines the 109 reflexive constructions in paul providing an exegesis of each reflexive text and then synthesizing the results paul s reflexive phrases are essential statements of his theology and ethics expressing an interconnected narrative christology narrative apostolic identity and narrative ethic most importantly the study finds that for epictetus concern for others is a rational means to self realization whereas for paul concern for others is a community ethic grounded in the story of the indwelling christ and is the antithesis of self interest the tensions and self contradictions in paul s statements on the torah are analysed in this book in detail which also critically discusses a vast body of scholarly literature on the subject the contradictions in paul cannot be explained away neither by dialectical interpretive devices nor by way of development theories rather they must be taken seriously as real contradictions and as pointers to paul s unsolved theological problems different statements owe their origin largely to different needs mostly polemical ones arising in changing situations anyone who has studied paul knows that probably the most complex problem he develops is his view of the law and its purpose the beauty of raisanen s work is that he recognizes and respects this complexity without himself becoming too dense to understand r finds that paul s radicalized negative criticism of the law is peculiar to him unparalleled in the nt and without precedent in jewish thought with careful patient examination of various contexts r leads his readers to see that paul has an oscillating even inconsistent view of the law this book is well written in clear readable english it is an important book recommended to any serious student of paul its strength is in r s willingness to abandon preconceptions of what paul s view on the law should be according to some consistent plan and in allowing paul to speak for himself mary ann getty in the catholic biblical quarterly 47 1985
