in 1845 sparsely populated florida had been admitted to the united states along with iowa in an ill fated attempt to keep the balance between slave and free states and ultimately avert the civil war that many felt was on the horizon when hostilities began in 1861 florida s pensacola bay area with its magnificent harbor valuable navy yard and impressive fortifications became hotly contested by union and confederate forces while pensacola s lack of navigable rivers and limited rail access had kept it from developing into one of the country s major commercial centers its location provided the perfect base for hostile strikes on nearby mobile and new orleans focusing on the town of pensacola and the small residential villages of warrington and woolsey this volume details the events which took place in and around pensacola bay immediately before and in the early months of the civil war it takes a look at the various people involved and how their personalities and attributes shaped the course of events the work presents happenings from a contemporary viewpoint rather than how they were reported and retold at a later time more than 70 period photographs and illustrations complete the depiction of events regionalism is a term that has been used to describe many different kinds of phenomena including political geographical architectural and literary this collection examines rhetorical regionalism or the relationships we have to physical regions and the idea of regionality regional rhetorics are more than simply the fact of local conditions in certain spaces they are the ways people produce feelings of belonging and discourses of normalcy within those spaces the authors in this collection bypass familiar narratives of nationality and localism in order to imagine regions as interfaces that help us to negotiate everyday life regions are more than physical spaces therefore regional rhetorics can provide different narratives in order to help us invent new kinds of connections to place and publics they give us new descriptions of relationships a power that merges together the tectonic spatial and the architectonic discursive impulses of rhetoric the book was originally published as a special issue of rhetoric society quarterly carmel by the sea the early years 1903 1913 describes the establishment of carmel by the sea california along with an overview of the history of the carmel mission and the monterey peninsula the book s emphasis is on the development of carmel as a bohemian artists and writers colony at the start of the 20th century the town s first decade of existence is described the businesses and services offered and the residential architecture there are biographies of the well known bohemian artists writers poets builders and other notable residents and visitors in the early 1900 s this original group of settlers the majority of whom came from northern california s bay area were distinctive individuals who were drawn to the coastal village by its scenic beauty and the inspiration it provided for their intellectual pursuits they set the tone that made carmel by the sea a bohemian enclave on the west coast and distinguished it as a unique place these early residents and visitors left a significant and lasting impact on the future of the seaside town which in turn attracted other creative talents to the area through the years and still to this day carmel by the sea the early years 1903 1913 preserves the literary artistic cultural and architectural heritage of carmel and the monterey peninsula region
