the essential haiku brings together robert hass's beautifully fresh translations of the three great masters of the japanese haiku tradition matsuo basho 1644-94 the ascetic and seeker and the haiku poet most familiar to english readers yosa buson 1716-83 the artist a painter renowned for his visually expressive poetry and kobayashi issa 1763-1827 the humanist whose haiku are known for their poignant or ironic wit each haiku master's section of the book is prefaced with an eloquent and informative introduction by robert hass followed by a selection of over 100 poems and then by other poetry or prose by the poet including journals and nature writing opening with hass's superb introductory essay on haiku the book concludes with a section devoted to basho's writings and conversations on poetry the seventeen syllable haiku form is rooted in a japanese tradition of close observation of nature of making poetry from subtle suggestion each haiku is a meditation a centring a crystalline moment of realisation reading them has a way of bringing about calm and peace within the reader the symbolism of the seasons and the japanese habit of mind blend together in these poems to create an alchemy of reflection that is unsurpassed in literature infused by its great practitioners with the spirit of zen buddhism the haiku served as an example of the power of direct observation to the first generation of american modernist poets like ezra pound and william carlos williams as well as an example of spontaneity and zen alertness to the new poets of post war america and britain universal in its appeal robert hass's the essential haiku is the definitive introduction to haiku and its greatest poets and has been a bestseller in america for twenty years i know that for years i didn't see how deeply personal these poems were or to say it another way how much they have the flavour basho might have said the scent of particular human life because i had been told and wanted to believe that haiku were never subjective i think it was d h lawrence who said the soul can get to heaven in one leap but that if it does it leaves a demon in its place better to sink down through the level of these poems their attention to the year their ideas about it the particular human consciousness the poems reflect basho's profound loneliness and sense of suffering buson's evenness of temper his love for the materials of art and for the colour and shape of things issa's pathos and comedy and anger robert hass

this book examines the scientific contribution and increasing relevance of the person centered approach pca in psychotherapy the direction taken in the book is to provide readers with a multidisciplinary and multi perspective view as well as practical applications beyond the more conventional psychotherapy applications client centered experimental emotion focused child centered motivational interviewing existential filial etc others have evolved including peace and conflict resolution work encounter and t groups nonviolent communication parent effectiveness training person centered planning for people with disabilities relationship enhancement methods learner centered education technology enhanced learning environments human relations leadership training etc simultaneously scientific disciplines were influenced by this perspective in less obvious ways hence the major contribution of this book is to identify and characterize the key bridges so far only partly recognized between the pca and several other disciplines based on the results of the bridge building endeavor the editors will propose an initial formulation of the pca as a meta theory it is intended as a generic framework to solve complex social problems and to stimulate further research and development concerning the human species in relationship to its environment from firewatcher poet comes a powerfully meditative with a basis in japanese poetic form haibun comps are peter matthiesen s snow leopard and the nine headed dragon river terry tempest williams barry lopez and even norman maclean s young men and fire multi award winning writer philip connors had been a fire watcher in the gila wilderness for fourteen straight summers when he sustained an injury and was forced to miss a year recovering when he returned he resolved to see the mountain with fresh eyes and to keep a detailed notebook the result is the mountain knows the mountain a meticulously observed experience of one fire season chronicled in haibun the centuries old prose form dating from basho s narrow road to the interior that recounts both inner and outer journeys and incorporates traditional haiku as an occasional element of narrative counterpoint though only a beginner in the practice of haiku connors deftly weaves close observation personal reflection and memory with hard won knowledge of the forest of the mountain and of fire the mountain knows the mountain is both mythic and immediate a chronicle of daily events granular in their specificity but connected to larger themes of the observed world and the inner life of the observer connors captures the various moods of a long season on a mountain plays with language and ways of seeing and includes contributing perspectives from his partner mónica ortiz uribe and his friend the late editor and publisher bobby byrd together with the author s own simple drawings the resulting snapshots offer incisive visions of how to be intimate with the wild
