french philosopher luce irigaray has become one of the twentieth century s most influential feminist thinkers among her many writings are three books with a projected fourth in which she challenges the western tradition s construals of human beings relations to the four elements earth air fire and water and to nature in answer to heidegger s undoing of western metaphysics as a forgetting of being irigaray seeks in this work to begin to think out the being of sexedness and the

sexedness of being this volume is the first english translation of l oubli de l air chez martin heidegger 1983 in this complex lyrical meditative engagement with the later work of the eminent german philosopher irigaray critiques heidegger s emphasis on the element of earth as the ground of life and speech and his oblivion or forgetting of air with the other volumes elemental passions and marine lover of friedrich nietzsche published elsewhere in irigaray s elemental series the forgetting of air offers a fundamental rereading of basic tenets in western metaphysics and with its emphasis on dwelling and human habitation it will be important reading not only in the humanities but also in architecture and the environmental sciences combining a basic history of philosophical thought with the often quirky personal stories of famous philosophers this comprehensive introduction to the world of philosophy answers more than 1 000 questions ranging from what was the enlightenment to why did the pythagorians avoid fava beans analyzing the collective effort of philosophers throughout history in the pursuit of truth and wisdom the guide explores the tangible significance of philosophical thought to modern society and civilization as a whole with a wide range of information suitable for various knowledge basesÑfrom junior high to junior collegeÑthis is an ideal resource for anyone looking to get a better grasp of the history of thought this book takes the contentious issue of designer babies and argues against the liberal eugenic current of bioethics that commends the logic and choice regimes of selective reproduction against conceptions of procreative beneficence that trade on a disregard for the gifts of maternal bodies it seeks to recover a thought of maternal giving and a more hospitable ethic of generational beneficence exploring themes of responsibility gift and natality the book refigures the experience of reproduction as the site of an ethical response to future generations where refusal to choose one s children is one virtuous response the book will appeal to anyone with an interest in reproductive ethics feminist thought and those seeking principled grounds for resisting the technologies of choosing children this book asks how it is possible to do philosophy by studying the thinkers of the past the answer is developed through readings of martin heidegger richard rorty paul ricoeur alasdair macintyre and other historically minded philosophers the result is a powerful and original account of how philosophers use the past this is about a society of isolates who all communicate with one another from terminal sites this is about being disembodied distanced distinct and that sort of boundary thing it is not about being present it is not about being there it is not about a shared history or a shared meal or a shared story or any kind of mutuality it is about contact between virtual strangers it happens when you feel that you are so alone that you need anybody to talk to anybody at all because you believe that your connections have failed you this kind of connection leaves you cold and dead inside because it lacks history and a language of belonging in this daring postmodern autobiography s paige baty recounts her search for love and community on the internet taking jack kerouac s on the road as a point of departure baty describes both an actual road trip to meet the object of an e mail romance and the cyber search for connection that draws so many people into the matrix of the internet writing in a bold experimental style that freely mixes e mails poems fragments of quotations and puns into expository text she convincingly links e mail trouble with female trouble in the displacement of embodied love and accountable human relationships to opaque screens and alienated identities her book stands as a vivid feminist critique of our culture s love affair with technology and its dehumanizing effect on personal relationships first published in 1996 this first of its kind encyclopaedia charts the influence of philosophic ideas that have had the greatest influence on education from ancient greece to the present it covers classical thinkers as plato augustine hypatia locke and rousseau as well as recent figures such as montessori heidegger du bois and dewey it illuminates time hounded ideas and concepts such as idealism practical wisdom scholasticism tragedy and truth as well as modern constructs as critical theory existentialism phenomenology marxism and post colonialism the coverage consists of 228 articles by 184 contributors who survey the full spectrum of the philosophy of education first published in 1996 routledge is an imprint of taylor francis an informa company publisher supplied data the book aims to discuss different aspects of reflexivity by inviting well known practitioners to reflect on how reflexivity has impacted on their work each chapter will cover an aspect of personal construct theory which the author has found helpful in their work its relation to reflexivity how they have incorporated this in practice and how it has enhanced their understanding of their own self construing around 20 authors will be invited to contribute dr richard butler is a consultant clinical psychologist with east leeds primary care trust in the uk he is an associate fellow of the british psychological society and has published extensively in the areas of both sport psychology and clinical psychology literary theory a reintroduction introduces the current state of theory by placing it in its social historical and institutional contexts focuses on the period preceding the theory movement of the 1970s and 1980s as well as the aftermath asks questions about how and why literary theory evolved in the 20th century discusses key figures such as f r leavis raymond williams jacques derrida michel foucault judith butler and alain badiou examines the influence of a wide range of topics in the field from the cold war to the culture wars throughout his long and controversial career martin heidegger developed a substantial contribution to the phenomenology of religion in heidegger s phenomenology of religion benjamin d crowe examines the key concepts and developmental phases that characterized heidegger s work crowe shows that heidegger s account of the meaning and structure of religious life belongs to his larger project of exposing and criticizing the fundamental assumptions of late modern culture he reveals heidegger as a realist through careful readings of his views on religious attitudes and activities crowe challenges interpretations of heidegger s early efforts in the phenomenology of religion and later writings on religion including discussions of greek religion and hölderlin s poetry this book is sure to spark discussion and debate as heidegger s work in religion and the philosophy of religion becomes increasingly important to scholars and beyond the idea for this book originated at nca s summer institute catching ourselves in the act a collaborative planning session to enrich our discipline through social constructionist approaches the conference provided the opportunity to interact with like minded others to discuss how social construction approaches influence or should influence our work another goal for the conference and for this book is to promote social construction approaches within the discipline we need to look forward by focusing on how the social construction perspective transforms our own work when we teach how can we best clarify the social construction principles we believe in and how can we convey the passion we feel for this approach how can we insure that our research practices are faithful to constructionist principles what practices can we or must we adopt to remain faithful to these principles together the chapters in this volume address such questions with the intention of helping us take the next step forward this book extends the conversation about social constructionism approaches and invites others to participate in that conversation
