both europe and the us have now dampened the shrillness of the invective hurled against each other over the last years but the underlying differences have not been resolved the two sides drift apart in their views on what internal politics should achieve as well as in their vision of the global order they would like to see established the economies of both europe and the us are highly developed and densely interwoven their societies are post industrial many social and economic trends converge similar too are the challenges to maintain security against threats emanating from other parts of the world divergences thus do not originate from conflicting material interests they arise from different perceptions of the nature and of threats from the outside world from how the two societies wish to define themselves through their internal and external policies the search for a distinct european or american identity fuels this discord therefore appeals to common merely material interests will not obliterate it the contributions to this book come from altogether twelve authors each of them addressing the issues from the perspective of his or her own discipline the book aims to reach not just academia but also beyond to those that are involved in actual international decision making homelessness in america has grown from a minor problem in isolated areas of a few big cities into a near epidemic today scarcely any american city of any appreciable size lacks homeless people homeless shelters and programs have become as essential and as commonplace as police protection or water and sewage treatment what to do for with or about the homeless is a nagging and complex social policy issue debated at all levels of government address unknown emphasizes the large scale social and economic forces that have priced an increasingly large segment of the urban poor completely out of the housing market seen in this light the problem of homelessness is that there are too many extremely poor people competing for too few affordable housing units the nation would be facing a formidable homelessness problem even if there were no alcoholics no drug addicts no deinstitutionalized mentally ill people no personal pathologies of any kind rather than a choice homelessness is the result of housing markets that have very little to offer to extremely poor people the plight of the homeless is very visible and address unknown is one of the first major investigative studies into the nature and multiple causes of the problem wright considers demographic economic sociological and social policy antecedents of homelessness a hallmark is the delineation of the range of factors involved including deinstitutionalization of the mentally ill urban renewal the decrease in lower skilled jobs changing political priorities and bureaucratic obstacles to providing existing social services to the homeless population james d wright is a professor in the department of sociology at the university of central florida he has published seventeen books including armed and considered dangerous and under the gun as well as many journal articles his current research interests include violence urban poverty and inequality health and the homeless population and the divorce reform movement there have always been homeless people in the united states but their plight has only recently stirred widespread public reaction and concern part of this new recognition stems from the problem's prevalence the number of homeless individuals while hard to pin down exactly is rising in light of this congress asked the institute of medicine to find out whether existing health care programs were ignoring the homeless or delivering care to them inefficiently this book is the report prepared by a committee of experts who examined these problems through visits to city slums and impoverished rural areas and through an analysis of papers written by leading scholars in the field homelessness is a tough topic to think about but it's essential we do not turn a blind eye to a plight that can impact anyone at any stage in life give your readers the right kind of material that empowers them with a desire to learn about the homeless editor louise i gerdes has compiled several primary source essays that examine two contrary sides to each issue considered across four chapters readers will evaluate whether homelessness is a serious problem that factors cause it what housing policies will benefit the homeless and what policies will best reduce homelessness this book addresses the tragic suffering of the homeless when we can get to the root causes of homelessness identify them and address them this is helpful in assisting those who are unhoused by sharing the story of one extraordinary individual the author illustrates how many factors are involved in a person's past that are interrelated and which influence each other's outcomes and solutions involve psychiatrists psychologists social workers faith communities schools and the government officials who write policy decisions into law solutions seem elusive and estimates of the resources needed are staggering but with concerted efforts there is hope homeless no other word better describes our modern day suffering it reveals one of our deepest and most painful conditions not having a sense of belonging however alan graham founder of mobile loaves fishes and community first village is improving the quality of life for a large quantity of people through sharing his personal story of becoming more human through humanizing others graham believes the more we can give people dignity the power of choice and genuine community the better we ll be able to offer solutions that will have impact on the world at large and while his missionary work is focused on giving a home to the physically homeless he also wants to transform the lives of every living person by shifting the paradigm in understanding what it means to be home in welcome homeless graham delves deep into what it means to be connected to god the earth and each other in doing so he shows us the home we ve all longed for but never had welcome homeless is about becoming fully human by being fully present it is about finally connecting with the disconnected and finding our identity through knowing the true identity of others graham wants to engrain the human story in you so deeply that you start being who you were made to be that you start finally being like the image from which you were made and start empathizing instead of sympathizing with the people around you similar to how we can become 100 percent fully human by mimicking the ultimate image we can shape a better world by mimicking the picture of the new heaven and the new earth a picture that has reality at the heart of it but is beyond our imagination alan graham also shares his personal story the stories of the homeless and the stories of those whose worldviews have been shifted by the homeless because of his raw humorous and honest voice he achieves a rare and profound universality houses become homes once they embody the stories of the people who have made these spaces into places of significance meaning and memory home is fundamentally a place of connection and of relationships that are life giving and foundational graham invites you to make everyone feel truly at home by finally inviting those living on the fringes of society into your heart this is why welcome homeless is about doing not saying it is about taking the ultimate and forward thinking vision of a new heaven and new earth and literally breaking the soil so that new earth can exist here today it is about realizing that homelessness is not fundamentally a consequence of moral and spiritual inadequacies but rather it is often the logical and economical outcome for a large part of our population so what does your vision of humanity and love look like whatever the vision it should look like community people should feel more alive after they meet you when your consciousness changes from one of self absorption to a consciousness aware of its human desire for connection compassion kindness and beauty you will start seeing things differently and others will start seeing you made anew as well because the absolute greatest self help occurs when you help others e
