a re issue of the 1926 classic by james churchward the lost continent of mu motherland of men supplemented with fresh research and new material by the author's great grandson in the 1920s James Churchward wrote a series of groundbreaking books about the lost continent of Lemuria which he called the Land of Mu. The basic premises are these: the Garden of Eden was not in Asia but on a sunken continent in the Pacific Ocean. The biblical story of creation came not from the peoples of the Nile but from this now submerged continent of Mu. The motherland of men, Mu, was an advanced civilization of 64 million inhabitants. He obtained the information by living with monks and translating unknown manuscripts. Over the years, his books have come to be considered occult classics. Now his great grandson, Jack Churchward, has resurrected this valuable work and added his own research, including the lost continent, the Land of Man's Advent on Earth, Egyptian Sacred Volume, Book of the Dead, Symbols of Mu, North American's Place Among the Ancient Civilizations, the Geological History of Mu, Ancient Religious Conceptions, Ancient Sacred Mysteries, Rites and Ceremonies.

A comprehensive study of the major occult writings on Atlantis fully examines the many occult teachings on Atlantis, including those from G.I. Gurdjieff, Madame Blavatsky, Julius Evola, Edgar Cayce, Fabre d'Olivet, and Dion Fortune. It shows how these writings correlate with the concept of cyclical history, such as the Mayan calendar and 2012, the Age of Aquarius, and the four Yugas. By a renowned scholar, author, editor, and translator of more than 30 books, Atlantis has held a perennial place in the collective imagination of humanity. From ancient Greece onward, many of the great minds of the occult and esoteric world wrote at length on their theories of Atlantis about its high culture, its possible location, its ultimate demise, and their predictions of a return to Atlantean enlightenment or the downfall of modern society. Beginning with a review of the rationalist writings on Atlantis, those that use geographic and geologic data to validate their theories, a renowned scholar, Joscelyn Godwin, then analyzes and compares writings on Atlantis from many of the great occultists and esotericists of the 19th and 20th centuries, including Fabre d'Olivet, G.I. Gurdjieff, Guido von List, Julius Evola, Edgar Cayce, Dion Fortune, and René Guénon. Whose writings often stem from deeper metaphysical sources such as sacred texts, prophecy, or paranormal communication, seeking to unravel and explain the histories and interpretations of Atlantis and its kindred myths of Lemuria and Mu. The author shows how these different views go hand in hand with the concept of cyclical history, such as the Vedic system of the four Yugas, the Mayan calendar with its 2012 end date, the Theosophical system of root races, and the precession of the equinoxes. Venturing broader and deeper than any other book on Atlantis, this study also covers reincarnation, human evolution, or devolution, the origins of race, and catastrophe theory.

Mu as a lost Pacific Ocean continent was later popularized by James Churchward (1851-1936) in a series of books beginning with Lost Continent of Mu: The Motherland of Man (1926, re-edited later as The Lost Continent Mu 1931). Other popular books in the series are The Children of Mu (1931) and The Sacred Symbols of Mu (1933). Churchward claimed that more than fifty years ago, while he was a soldier in India, he befriended a high-ranking temple priest who showed him a set of ancient sunburnt clay tablets supposedly in a long-lost Naga Maya language which only two other people in India could read. Having mastered the language himself, Churchward found out that they originated from the place where man first appeared, Mu. The 1931 edition states that all matters of science in this work are based on translations of two sets of ancient tablets, the clay tables he read in India and a collection of 2,500 stone tablets that had been uncovered by William Niven in Mexico (p. 7). Churchward gave a vivid description of Mu as the home of an advanced civilization, the Naacal, which flourished between 50,000 and 12,000 years ago. It was dominated by a white race (p. 48) and was superior in many respects to our own (p. 17). At the time of its demise, about 12,000 years ago, Mu had 64 000 000 inhabitants and many large cities and colonies in the other continents churchward claimed that the landmass of mu was located in the pacific ocean and stretched east west from the marianas to easter island and north south from hawaii to mangaia he claimed that according to the creation myth he read in the indian tablets mu had been lifted above sea level by the expansion of underground volcanic gases eventually mu was completely obliterated in almost a single night p 44 after a series of earthquakes and volcanic eruptions the broken land fell into that great abyss of fire and was covered by fifty millions of square miles of water p 50 churchward claimed that mu was the common origin of the great civilizations of egypt greece central america india burma and others including easter island and was in particular the source of ancient megalithic architecture as evidence for his claims he pointed to symbols from throughout the world in which he saw common themes of birds the relation of the earth and the sky and especially the sun churchward claims the king of mu was ra and he relates this to the egyptian god of the sun ra and the rapanui word for sun ra a which he incorrectly spells raa 8 p 48 he claimed to have found symbols of the sun in egypt babylonia peru and all ancient lands and countries it was a universal symbol 8 p 138 churchward attributed all megalithic art in polynesia to the people of mu he claimed that symbols of the sun are found depicted on stones of polynesian ruins such as the stone hats pukao on top of the giant moai statues of easter island citing w j johnson churchward describes the cylindrical hats as spheres that seem to show red in the distance and asserts that they represent the sun as ra p 138 he also incorrectly claimed that some of them are made of red sandstone 8 p 89 which does not occur in the island the platforms on which the statues rest ahu are described by churchward as being platform like accumulations of cut and dressed stone which were supposedly left in their current positions awaiting shipment to some other part of the continent for the building of temples and palaces p 89 he also cites the pillars erected by the maori of new zealand as an example of this lost civilization s handiwork p 158 in churchward s view the present day polynesians are not descendants of the dominant members of the lost civilization of mu responsible for these great works but survivors of the cataclysm that adopted the first cannibalism and savagery in the world
