communicating the gospel to all people by all means communication has always been the heartbeat of god's interaction with humankind and without thoughtful communication mission is not fully effective with the rise of technology and social media the church faces a unique set of opportunities at the same time our shrinking world presents challenges and requires an increased sensitivity to social cultural and geopolitical triggers with case studies that span the globe from australia and asia to the black church and muslim youth diaspora in the united states this book closely considers what is working in the twenty first century and what isn't from post colonial contexts to creative access countries this collection doesn't shy away from today's complex issues communication in mission pulls together diverse voices some seem like shouts and others like gentle whispers but each has an important contribution for all who will listen and learn this synthesis of personal experiences from field practitioners and theoretical concepts from scholars lays a foundation for application calling for careful and intentional communication in the ongoing work of missions full of hope this book looks forward to the gospel being received as good news around the globe summarizing the dimensions of christian communication too many today are borrowing uncritically from the world of secular marketing and seem to be blithely unaware that the gospel is not a consumer product to be sold persuasively to a waiting world there is a great temptation to be so focused on felt needs that the gospel ceases being the narrow way and becomes instead a broad way to human fulfillment unless real caution is exercised masses are attracted and churches become filled with those to whom christianity is only a veneer over an otherwise secular life sogaard succeeds in driving home the sometimes forgotten point that strategies no matter how skillfully they are conceived are destined to failure unless it is fully recognized that the holy spirit is the ultimate persuader there is in short a mysterious interworking between strategies and the ministry of the holy spirit an imbalance on either side of this equation is untenable the majority of the chapters offer practical insights into how such media as audio cassettes radio film and television can if properly used play an important role in conversion and spiritual growth but the author never loses sight of the fact that the single most important medium is face to face communication in the context of the local christian fellowship with the development of instantaneous global communication it is vital to communicate effectively across cultural boundaries this addition to the acclaimed encountering mission series is designed to offer contemporary intercultural communication insights to mission students and practitioners authored by leading missionary scholars with significant intercultural experience the book explores the cultural values that show up in intercultural communication and examines how we can communicate effectively in a new cultural setting features such as case studies tables figures and sidebars are included making the book useful for classrooms there is a profusion of missional issues emerging in the asian fields that call christ s followers to actively witnessing the truth missionaries from different continents have come to serve the asian nations and yet these god s loving missionaries effectiveness often seem to have left in the shade by some damaging fruits and sometimes being too much of westernness stemming from a diversity of lacking knowledge particularly the local contexts to contextualize and lack of preparation the irrefutable finding is appealing within the asian mission study in regard to the essentiality in equipping the christians so that the ministries in asia will experience the effectiveness in cultivating the diverse contexts cultures with the text scripture they have many principles and practical information from this book grew out of the authors experiences and the reflection of missiologists and scholars such as andrew walls christopher wright kazoh kitamori paul hiebert etc communication in mission and development identifies unpacks and articulates fundamental problems in communication in mission and development as it is being carried out in africa and the majority world today new technology unique in the history of mankind is throwing up vexing issues to date barely recognized in communication practice this book reconsiders previous work by mission scholars on communication questions regarding materialism in africa widespread understandings on the nature of human equality the impact on communication of the holding of monistic vs dualistic worldviews african and western approaches to hermeneutics the use of european languages for communication in africa issues related to globalization and development and more underlying differences in philosophical foundations amongst western as against majority world people influences their respective communication to such an extent that the expectation that both sides simply understand one another because they happen to use the same international language is found to be unrealistic communication in mission and development concludes that the practice of mission and development will better cope with current realities when the use of local languages is once again given its proper decisive place
