was dependent on her literary output to support her three surviving children she soon established herself as a popular writer and worked hard to sustain this position but her private life was dogged with sorrow as her remaining children all predeceased her. Oliphant wrote over 120 works mostly novels but also travel books biographies historical works and volumes of literary criticism some of her most popular fictional works are the six novels which make up the chronicles of Carlingford originally serialised in Blackwood's from 1862-5 prior to book publication. This novella first published in 1890 tells the story of a widow left the management of her late husband's estate and the trusteeship of the children helped only by her steward Mr Brown a young man of a lower class who stays well in the background. After a time a rumour emerges that Mrs Blencarrow's name was seen in the marriage register at Gretna Green and this rumour is spread by a young local girl who does not however recall the name coupled with Mrs Blencarrow's the implication is that the widow has done something shameful and so has no right to the estate or the guardianship of her own children and the reader is kept in suspense wondering what and how much will be revealed and what will be the outcome for Mrs Blencarrow.
