the book addresses the complex relationships among learning education and the community it examines the significance of the community for the individual s development and the potential that learning and education have for the development of the community the volume gathers together the findings of a number of quantitative and qualitative studies conducted on different samples theoretical discussions set in comparative international contexts although the studies employ slovenian samples and analyse situations in this country the contributions address issues that are of concern to the global research community moreover they respond to international debates and engage in the dialogue between the local partial and the global universal the book is unique in its embeddedness in the intellectual continental european tradition that has been characterised by the failed historical experience of attempting collective unity through the community understood as a common identity in former yugoslavia

the first substantial history of the jews in the industrial south this is the first substantial history of the jews in any inland town or city of the industrial south the author starts with the reconstruction period when the community was established and he carries the story down into the 1970 s first there were the germans the pioneers who built the community then came the east euopean emigres who had to cope not only with the problem of survival but the disdain if not the hostility of the already acculturated central european settlers who had forgotten their own humble beginnings after world war i came the fusion of the two groups and the need to cooperate religiously and to integrate their cultural social and philanthropic institutions binding them together and speeding the rise of a total jewish community was the ever present fear of anti jewish prejudice and the peculiar problem a real one of steering a course between the christian whites and the christian blacks what religion the newly opened recently indigenous territory of iowa would become was a matter of concern to german lutherans austrian and french catholics and new england congregationalists but their funding proved no match for the myriad of choices iowans had methodists were everywhere and inspirationists freethinkers and meskwakis all added to the chorus suggesting that hegemony was not a possibility and cooperation a better strategy religious iowans black hawk amelia bloomer annie wittenmeyer james b weaver billy sunday john r mott luigi ligutti henry a wallace ann landers harold hughes and robert ray all make appearances how did sioux city pastor george haddock get his name on streets in california how did rev george slater contribute to civil rights which state was the go to for journalists looking for an american religious consensus how did dubuque seminary professors feel about nuclear weapons how did sr pat farrell parry vatican accusations of heresy the answers to those and many other questions the reader never thought to ask lie within with humor incisive analysis and sympathy douglas paints a tapestry that contributes not just to religious history but argues for its importance to the history of iowa
