seminar paper from the year 2012 in the subject politics topic globalization political economics grade a webster university language english abstract in recent decades many regions of the world have seen a marked increase in economic development due to the process of globalization as states have opened their borders to international markets allowing for multinational corporations non governmental organizations and foreign state actors to have an increasingly powerful influence over traditionally domestic matters with this development and the advance of technology media and communication have had the ability to reach regions of the world which may have never been exposed to other cultures in the past undoubtedly this has had an impact on the culture and societal norms of countless cultures as dominant world cultures expand their realm of influence through such media as tv programs and the internet this report will examine to what extent dominant world cultures impacts are on what will be termed traditional cultures a unique culture which up until recently has been relatively unaware of and influenced by other outside cultures furthermore it will examine whether this trend of globalization will advance the creation of a singular global culture the debate of whether the erosion between traditional culture and the strengthening of a global culture is of particular concern as within recent history many groups who are often termed minorities to the more dominant cultures are concerned with the loss of their individuality way of life and even their national sovereignty to pro or hyper globalists this loss of sovereignty is viewed as progress as the process of cultural homogenization will inevitably be responsible for the decay of conflict among differing cultural groups however to the minorities or traditional cultures opposed to this form of cultural transformation this theory poses a threat to their unique values and it is not likely that traditional cultures will likely submit to the notion that a growing global culture is an unavoidable fact this book examines the nexus between nation building and history education globally and the implication for cultural diversity and social justice it studies some of the major education reforms and policy issues in history education in a global culture and regards them in the light of recent shifts in history education and policy research in doing so the volume provides a comprehensive picture of the intersecting and diverse discourses of globalisation history education and policy driven reforms it makes clear that the impact of globalisation on education policy and reforms is a strategically significant issue for us all the book focuses on the importance of nation building and patriotism in history education and presents up to date research on global trends in history education reforms and policy research it provides an easily accessible practical yet scholarly source of information about the international concerns in the field of globalisation history education and policy research the current discourse of globalization is overwhelmingly centred upon the interconnectedness or connectivity of the contemporary world to the great neglect of the issues of global culture and global consciousness with contemporary worldwide culture increasingly characterized by such themes as astronomy cosmology space travel and exploration there is an increasing disjuncture between academic concern with connectivity on the one hand and culture and consciousness of the place of planet earth in the cosmos as a whole on the other this book addresses this deficiency from a variety of closely related perspectives presenting studies of religion science sport international organizations global resistance movements and migrations and developments in east asia it brings together the latest theoretical empirical work from scholars in the us uk australia japan china and israel on the significance of culture and global consciousness as such global culture consciousness and connectivity will be of great interest to scholars across and beyond the social sciences working in the areas of global studies cultural studies social theory the sociology of religion and related issues in the first half of the twentieth century theodor adorno wrote about the culture industry for adorno culture too along with the products of factory labour was increasingly becoming a commodity now in what they call the global culture industry scott lash and celia lury argue that adorno s worst nightmares have come true their new book tells the compelling story of how material objects such as watches and sportswear have become powerful cultural symbols and how the production of symbols in the form of globally recognized brands has now become a central goal of capitalism global culture industry provides an empirically and theoretically rich examination of the ways in which these objects from nike shoes to toy story from global football to conceptual art metamorphose and move across national borders this book is set to become a dialectic of enlightenment for the age of globalization it will be essential reading for students and scholars across the social sciences now fully revised and updated this seminal text asks if there is cultural life after the clash of civilizations and global mcdonaldization jan nederveen pieterse argues that what is taking place is a global culture of hybridization in a new chapter the author explores east west hybridities the idea that globalization is a process of braiding rather than simply a diffusion from developed to developing countries his historically deep and geographically wide approach to globalization is essential reading as we face the spread of conflicts bred by cultural misunderstanding paul hopper leads the reader through the varied issues associated with globalization and culture including deterritorialization cosmopolitanism cultural hybridization and homogenization as well as claims that aspects of globalization are provoking cultural resistance
