collection of essays on the south african alternative press from the 1880s to the 1960s through detailed close readings alongside investigations into the history of print culture marta fossati traces the development of the south african short story in english from the late 1920s to the first decade of the twenty first century she examines a selection of short stories by important black south african writers rolfes and herbert dhlomo peter abrahams can themba alex la guma mtutuzeli matshoba ahmed essop and zoë wicomb with an alertness to the dialogue between ethics and aesthetics performed by these texts this new history of black short fiction problematizes and interrogates the often polarised readings of black literature in south africa that can be torn between notions of literariness protest and journalism due to material constraints short fiction in south africa circulated first and foremost through local print media which fossati analyses in detail to show the cross fertilisation between journalism and the short story while rooted in the south african context the short stories considered also hold a translocal dimension allowing us to explore the ethical and aesthetic practice of intertextuality these are writings that complicate the aesthetics ethics binary generic classifications and the categories of the literary and the political theoretically eclectic in its approach although largely underpinned by a narratological analysis the south african short story in english 1920 2010 when aesthetics meets ethics offers a fresh perspective on the south african short story in english spotlighting several hitherto marginalised figures in south african literary studies requiem for sophiatown is a collection of 25 short stories and sketches from can themba s creative work a collection of short stories from africa covering a range of subjects from the conflict between traditional and new ways of life and values to the role of women in society the main introduction provides a background for discussion as well as ideas for students to use in their own writing the 1950s in south africa was a time of optimism and hope that ended tragically with the massacre at sharpeville this book is about those years as seen through the microcosm of drum an illustrated magazine produced in johannesburg for black readers bookjacket
